Spaceman Roosa Speaks Up for the Earth

By TIM SCHUSTER

NEWBURGH

Lt. Col. Stuart A. Roosa, Apollo 14 moon astronaut, told a press conference at Newburgh Free Academy Tuesday afternoon that he had gained a new perspective toward the earth's conservation of natural resources through his mission.

Roosa spent a full afternoon and evening in Newburgh, giving high school students a film presentation and answering questions in the early afternoon and repeating the program for adults in the evening. He spoke with newsmen for an hour and was a guest at a Holiday Inn dinner also.

The diminutive astronaut, dressed in a NASA overall flight suit, arrived at Stewart Airport about noontime from Houston and later proclaimed, in answer to questions, that he was not qualified to say whether the site would make a good jetport for metropolitan New York, but it was fine on a clear day.

In regard to the Apollo 14 mission, Roosa told newsmen, "Going to the moon makes one very conscious of our environment." He said that the space program points up the fact that "we are living in a closed environment."

"The earth looks very beautiful from 240,000 miles away," he added, comparing it to the spacecraft in which he was travelling inasmuch as the astronauts had to "worry about keeping it clean."

Several questions from high school students dealt with government spending priorities. One student asked, "Do you think the U.S. spends too much money in the space program?"

Roosa answered that social programs received about 38 per cent of the federal budget, while the space program last year received only 1.4 per cent, "about a penny and a half per federal dollar."

He explained that budget cuts in the space program over the past two years have meant a loss of three lunar landing missions thus far and a "hiatus between the sky lab and shuttle of three to four years." But he termed Congress "not really hostile" toward the program, saying it had appropriated about 98 per cent of what had been asked for in the past.

When asked by The Freeman whether he believed that the U.S. should develop its own SST, Roosa said that he didn't believe the planes would have much effect on the earth's ecology, adding that the real question was whether the funding should be through government funds or private industry.

But he sounded slightly put off by the general lack of public support for the space program, noting that the "Russians do appreciate what the space program can do for their country." And he affirmed that there are "military aspects" to all of the space technology endeavors.

Roosa said that our spacecraft are "more sophisticated in relying on a crew instead of automation," adding that the Russians "don't have a launch capable of putting up a manned vehicle."

The astronaut told newsmen he felt that the average person could take most of the biological stress inherent in space travel. While astronauts are physically trained to withstand the gravity load on takeoffs, Roosa said the average person might black out, but as a passenger it really would not make that much difference.

Another problem experienced primarily by the Russians thus far has been vertigo during weightlessness. This has also been largely eliminated from U.S. missions.

Roosa's visit to Newburgh Free Academy was set up through Sen. Jacob Javits' office as part of the high school's intensive two-week long space flight exhibit.

A lunar rock, reportedly insured for $25,000 and guarded by uniformed state police, was on display in a science lecture hall, as well as a 1/3 size model of the lunar module and a 1/48 size mockup of the Saturn V rocket that towered eight feet.

The rock looked like grey granite, was sealed in plastic, and was about the size of an extra-large hen's egg.

The astronaut was short, slim, had a ready smile, red wavy hair, and appeared imperturbable.

Legislature Approves New County Jail

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Unanimous approval was given Tuesday night to the construction of a new 188-inmate county jail and the purchase of 50 acres of land adjacent to Ulster County Community College. The action was taken at a special meeting of the Ulster County Legislature which today advertised for bids for the new jail on Golden Hill.

Clifford Snyder, chairman of the Sheriff's Committee which did the preliminary planning for the detention facility, said he expects that construction of the three-story building will be completed in a year and one-half to two years.

The measure passed 29 to 0 with three legislators absent. George Barthel (D-Dist. 10) asked if the committee had given consideration to housing short-term prisoners in the state detention houses as New York City has done recently.

Snyder replied that plans for the new jail in Ulster County have been actively underway since August 1969 when the Legislature authorized Architect Albert E. Milliken to design the facility. Snyder explained that there were no state facilities available at the time and also that the state, which has condemned the Ulster County Jail, had delivered the ultimatum to build a new jail or close down the present one.

Snyder and his committee were commended for their work in connection with success of the jail study and plans for the new 50,000 square foot, brick-faced detention center.

man (D-City), Minority Leader Roger Mabie (D-Dist. 7) and William Edelmuth (D-City).

The Legislature, in approving the purchase of the 50 acres of land in Stone Ridge adjacent to the college campus, passed two resolutions. One provides the funds for the purchase and the second delegates the power to authorize the issuance of and sell revenue anticipation notes in anticipation of state aid of 50 per cent.

The land, which lies between Lucas Turnpike and the existing campus to the west, is to be purchased from the estate of the late Adolph Fromer. The county will pay $10,000 and the state the remaining $10,000 with an additional $125.96 paid by the county for a tax adjustment due the seller, Irving A. Garson, executor of the estate.

The resolution to purchase also makes a provision for the transfer of county funds from the contingent funds to the capital project fund in the amount of $10,125.96.

The measure passed unanimously 29-0 with three members absent. It was sponsored by the Ulster County Community College Committee which includes Brian White (R-Dist. 9), chairman; Richard Thornton (D-Dist. 1), Mabie, Edelmuth, Bevier, James Palen (R-Dist. 9), Philip Davis (R-Dist. 11), Glenn Debrosky (R-Dist. 7), William West (R-Dist. 12).

Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago commented after the meeting that the land purchase was made with the future expansion of the college in mind and because it had been made available for purchase at this time.

Kelder presented Savago a certificate in behalf of the Campers and Hikers Association which recently held a Camporama on the site of the Ulster County Fair Grounds in New Paltz. Kelder declared the event a huge success and conveyed the appreciation of the campers for the use of the grounds.

Following adjournment of the Legislature's meeting, Savago discussed informally with the board the possibility of getting approval for the laying of a stone, oil and chips on an access road to the site of the new infirmary now under construction on Golden Hill. He described conditions on nearby Glenn Street which is presently being used by heavy equipment going to and from the site, as dangerous and destructive.

The board gave tentative approval and will act formally on the matter at its regular May 13 meeting at 4 p.m. in the County Office Building.

ALBANY PROTESTS AGAINST CUTS

(UPI Telephoto)

The Albany Demonstrations

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — Generally orderly, although a few minor incidents were reported.

The main group of demonstrators listened as a state legislator urged them to call a general strike in New York City. Sen. Waldaba Stewart, D-Brooklyn, said senators and assemblymen understand only one thing:

Capitol police estimated the crowd at 12,000, making it the largest demonstration ever on Capitol grounds. The rally was ion has to do to get its demands across. I'm calling for a general citywide strike in the City of New York."

More than 7,000 of the crowd jammed the park in front of the Capitol for a rally directed by Victor Gotbaum, executive director of Council 37 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Thousands more were stalled in traffic as buses lined the streets of Albany between the Thruway and the Capitol. Barrett said other law enforcement officials counted about 325 buses on the Thruway.

The rally cost the organizers an estimated $117,000. There was no estimate of the cost of security.

District 37 spent $90,000 for buses to transport the participants, and the United Federation of Teachers spent $4,500 for buses. Another $22,500 was spent for box lunches.

Security inside the huge five-story stone Capitol had never been stricter. The second floor, which contains the governor's office, was blocked off entirely. Elevators were not permitted to stop on that floor.

On the floor above the Senate and Assembly chambers were locked. The Assembly ended its session before the demonstrators arrived. The Senate continued throughout the afternoon.

At one point there was a brief scuffle on the Capitol steps between the civil servant protesters and about 2,000 demonstrators calling for repeal of the state's liberalized abortion law. The anti-abortion group had been promised use of the steps until 3 p.m. but were pushed off an hour early when the thousands of state and city workers arrived.

At one point, Sen. James Donovan, R-Chadwick, an ardent foe of the abortion law, was addressing the group when he was pelted by apple cores by the government workers. The anti-abortionists quickly concluded their rally and left the steps.

More than 100 policemen, a combined force of state and Capitol building guards, were stationed throughout the building. At a rally in New York City before the demonstrators left for Albany, Mayor John V. Lindsay told them, "Your battle cry of save our city is my battle cry; your message to Albany is my message to Albany."

The placards carried by both groups were sharply critical of government officials.

Area Fire Situation Remains Critical

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

KINGSTON

The cool weather and intermittent rain since Saturday has lessened the fire danger in area forests and open fields but the situation will continue to be critical until a heavy rainfall covers the area, Department of Environmental Conservation officials declared.

The department has set a Class 4 classification for the area which still leaves it in the high fire danger. Constant winds the past few days have dried out the precipitation and its ever present to whip up the flames should a fire occur.

Forest Ranger Aaron Vandebogert of Willow said it appears that we will have a prolonged fire season. In his report to Albany today, he noted that the leaves are not coming out at higher elevations and without shade to hold the moisture, the grass and brush will be dry and highly inflammable. He said the area has been fortunate so far not to have had a serious forest fire.

Vandebogert said the Conservation Department order Friday to suspend the issuing of all burning permits was rescinded Tuesday due to public pressure. He said this is the cleanup season and many residents want to get rid of leaves and fallen trees on their properties. However, he said this is only a temporary situation and suspension of burning permits may go into effect again, if the danger persists. Brush and grass fires have not been as prevalent in the past few days as they were last week.

Special

Mutual Aid Headquarters at Golden Hill reported yesterday that the brush fire situation had subsided. Only one brush fire was reported about 1 a.m. today at Spring Lake.

The area had a Five classification, extreme fire danger, on Friday. This is the highest classification. Light rain fell intermittently Saturday and Sunday and brought this down to Three on Tuesday. Probably the largest fire last week was in Highland area where about 12 acres were burned off before it was brought under control.

Forest Ranger Bryon Hill of Cottekill and a crew of about 30, assisted by Highland Fire Company quelled the blaze. Hill said there was no fire activity in his area overnight but they are keeping a sharp lookout because of the critical condition.

All conservation officials continued to send out warnings to area residents to refrain from burning and to use extreme care with any campfires that may be necessary. Travelers seeing fires starting in the woods or brushlands should report them immediately to the nearest fire station.

Elsewhere in the East, fires burning uncontrolled through the peat-like soil or muck which covers most of the Everglades and ranges in depth from four to five feet. They attempted cloud-seeding Monday and although rain fell as a result, the three-inch downpour fell on the heavily populated Gold Coast cities of Miami and Fort Lauderdale.

The rainmakers reported it as the third successful mission for producing precipitation. The rain is stimulated by seeding clouds with silver-iodide flares.

Reports from the vast Florida Everglades note massive fish kills and persistent ground-fires. They attribute the fish kills to the drought. Officials there report the serious problem of

Opening of Lions Expo . . . Harmony and Some Mystery

KINGSTON
Harmony and a note of mystery both made an appearance last night at the opening of the 24th Annual Lions Exposition and Home Show.

A record crowd of 3,310 turned out to view the gala being held at the New York State Armory on Manor Avenue, and to inspect the more than 150 booths showing various aspects of the theme of the show—The American Scene. However, one booth highly germane to that theme was shuttered; it had never even opened.

The Sheriff's exhibit was previously one of the most lavish displays at the Exposition, replete with horses and boats, gone too.

narcotic displays and friendly advice from the Sheriff's Department. Last night, there was no Sheriff's exhibit.

According to Exposition Chairman Francis R. (Skip) Kugelman, an inspection of all the exhibit booths was conducted, and it was noted that there was a hardwood sign at the Sheriff's booth, the last line of which urged the reelection of Sheriff William B. Martin. Because of the political nature of the line, Exposition officials asked Sgt. Raymond Davis of the Sheriff's Department to have it covered up.

According to Kugelman, Davis apparently went one better. Within two hours the booth was gone too.

However, Sheriff Martin told The Freeman the booth never really got up. Martin said the reason why the booth wasn't erected was "there wasn't enough space." Martin said that was his "only objection."

Martin also told The Freeman he knew nothing about any political sign, and had heard nothing about it, having been "busy on another matter at the time." He said he did not know if the sheriff's posse made the parade or not.

The record opening night crowd broke the previous mark set in 1969 when 3,235 persons turned out for the opening festivities. Last year's crowd was 2,658.

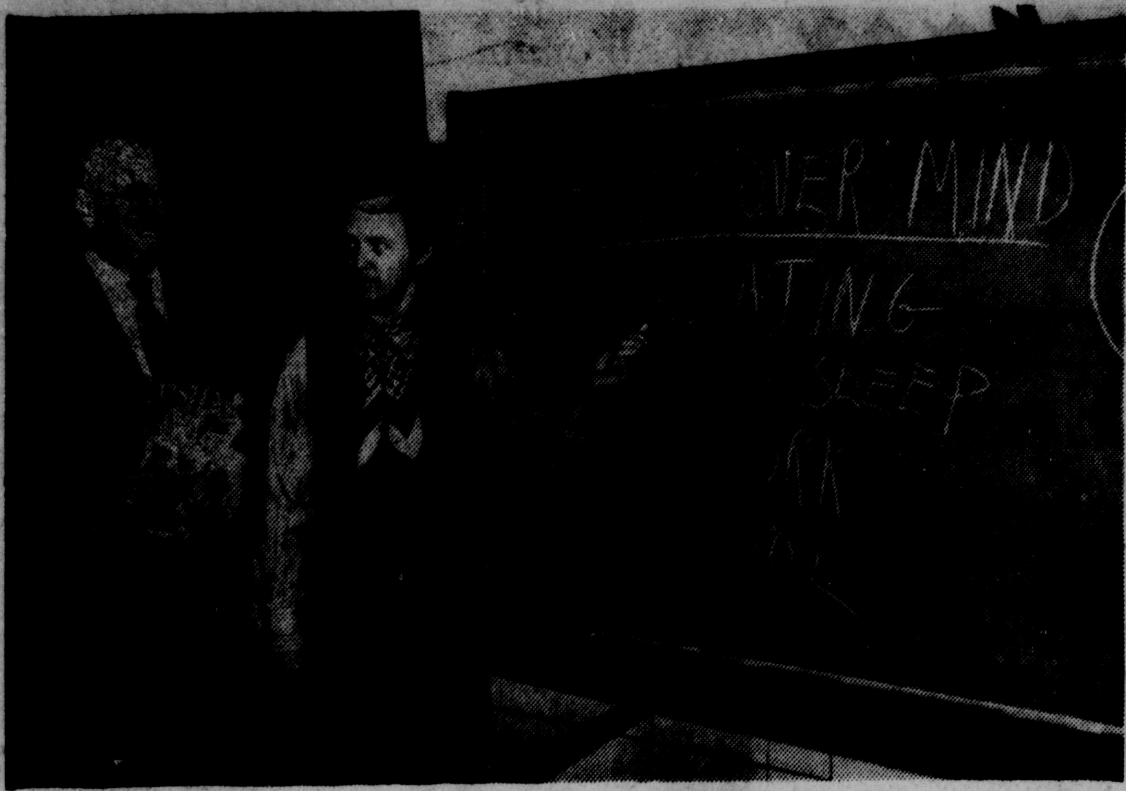

The schedule for the rest of the week shows tonight featuring Bob Matthews, with slides on historic Kingston, and Elmer Carney's famous artifacts ex-

STOP SMOKING — Dr. George Wootan (R) is pointing out the harmful effects of smoking on the body as part of the Five Day Plan to stop smoking currently being conducted at the George Washington School Auditorium. Also pictured is Pastor Dan W. Schiffbauer, the other director of the project. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Stop Smoking Program: Fourteen Still Sticking

KINGSTON — A total of 28 people began the program, described as an "austere" one by the two directors. Wootan explained, "They are trying to get along without coffee, tea, or alcoholic beverages, as well as tobacco. These beverages weaken willpower and encourage a craving for tobacco." Those sticking with the program were limited to a diet of fruit, fruit juices, and water for the first day, with other "ordinary" foods being added later, according to Wootan. The film "Time Pulls the Trigger" was shown to the participants. This film emphasizes in animated style the ill effects of smoking on the mind as well as the body.

Foster Families Lose in Court

Two would-be foster families Tuesday lost phases of their court battles to keep baby girls they had tried to adopt. The State Supreme Court's Appellate Division in Rochester upheld a lower court ruling returning a 10-month-old child to her unmarried mother, Judith A. Musso of Olean. The child, named Mary Kate, had been tentatively adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Gary McAlpine of South Dayton. In New York City, a federal judge refused to intervene in the custody battle between Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas DeMartino and Olga Scarpetta over Miss Scarpetta's 11-month-old daughter Lenore. Both Miss Scarpetta and Miss Musso had offered their babies for adoption then said they wanted them back. State judges have awarded both mothers custody of their children. Miss Musso regained Mary Kate after a State Supreme Court justice decided in her favor. The DeMartinos have retained custody of Lenore. In its unanimous ruling in Miss Musso's favor, the five judge appeals court said there had been no indication that the mother was unfit for parenthood. "It has been repeatedly held that in determining what is in the best interest of the child, the natural mother or father has presumptive right to the care and custody of the child superior to everyone else," the appeals court said. Judge Constance Motley of U.S. District Court told the DeMartinos that the dispute had been decided in state courts and that she lacked jurisdiction. Judge Motley had allowed the baby to remain with the DeMartinos during her review of the case. Jacob Fuchsberg, DeMartino's lawyer, said his client would take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary. He said his client could apply to have the baby remain in their home while the case is being decided. There was no immediate word as to whether the McAlpines planned further appeal.

Four Calls for City Firemen

KINGSTON — Firemen responded to four calls overnight for fires involving brush, pot flares and an electric sign. Engine 3 in charge of Deputy Chief Hugh Greer was dispatched to Broadway and Spring Street at 7:12 p.m. Tuesday after reports were received that children were throwing kerosene pot flares in the road at a construction project. Firefighters used Co-2 chemical and pressurized water to extinguish the flares and scrap wood that had ignited. The cause was listed as incendiary. At 7:18 p.m. Engine 1 and Truck 1 in charge of Deputy Greer were sent to Carroll's Drive-in on Broadway and East Chester Street. On arrival firemen found smoke seeping from a large sign caused by a short circuit in wiring. Five ballasts burned out. The electricity was shut off. A third call was received at 7:28 p.m. reporting a brisk fire burning in brush, grass and trees on a hill in back of 72-74 Third Avenue. Engines 1 and 3, Union Hose and Cordts Hose Companies responded and extinguished the flames. The cause was listed as incendiary by Deputy Greer, who was in charge. At 1:17 a.m. firefighters from Engines 1 and 3, Truck 1, Cordts Hose and Wicks Salvage unit were dispatched to Delaware Avenue and North Street where they found flames sweeping through brush in the vicinity of the Jova Brick Works. Three booster lines were used to check the fire. Deputy Greer was in charge.

Referendum Set for Rosendale Voters

ROSENDALE — Following a public hearing on the matter Tuesday night which was attended by about 20 persons, the town board agreed to put the question to a referendum and let the people decide. The referendum is scheduled for Monday, June 28 at the Town Clerk's Office in Rosendale between 2 and 8 p.m., according to Supervisor Gerald DeFelicis who said that most of the persons attending the hearing seemed to prefer the present three-assessor system.

Mendel Davis Learned Lesson On Campaigning

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — who never has held elective office, defeated three other candidates in the first congressional district race. With all precincts reporting, Davis had 37,857 votes to 32,632 for Dr. James Edwards, the Republican candidate, and 7,972 for Mrs. Victoria Delee of the black-oriented United Citizens party. Mrs. Elsie von Kautz Carroll, a write-in candidate, drew only a few votes. Davis said he often had discussed campaign strategy with Rivers, who was in Congress for 30 years, many as head of the powerful House Armed Services Committee. The winners only job has been as a member of Rivers' staff. He went through the black-oriented public school system in Charleston and signed on with Rivers three days after receiving his high school diploma.

Injuries Fatal to Stone Ridge Woman

By WALTER S. CLARK

PORT EWEN

A 57-year-old Stone Ridge woman was fatally injured shortly after midnight today when the car she was driving apparently went out of control and slammed into an abutment of the Rondout Creek Bridge north of Connelly Road in this Town of Esopus community.

Mrs. Elizabeth Youngberg of Peak Road, Stone Ridge, was rushed to Benedictine Hospital by Doctors Ambulance. She was pronounced dead on arrival.

Ulster County Coroner

William S. Keyser, who investigated the death with sheriff's deputies, said the cause of death had not been determined. Police reports noted that she probably suffered internal injuries.

Sergeant Raymond Davis of the sheriff's department said a report of Deputy Sheriffs Thomas Cook and Daniel Cronan noted that woman apparently was driving her 1965 car north on Route 9W when the vehicle crashed into the abutment on the south side of the bridge.

Deputies said examination of the highway indicated the woman did not apply the brakes of the car just prior to the crash.

A wrecker was summoned to tow away the vehicle the front end of which was demolished, investigators said.

Kingston Police first received the report of the accident and after checking they found the mishap occurred in the Town of Esopus and the Sheriff's office was notified.

Sheriff William B. Martin and Investigator Harold T. Bowers were notified of the fatality. The investigation is being continued.

The highway death was the second recorded by authorities in Ulster County this month, and the 12 of the year. In 1970 the 12th fatality was noted on May 20 after a 17-year-old itinerant blacktop installer from Boston, Mass., lost his life when a pickup truck went out of control and hit a tree off Route 209 in Stone Ridge. The youth's 15-year-old brother also was killed in that mishap.

Clarification Asked By Candidate Weiner

TEAMSTERS ENDORSE FERACA — Anthony Alecca (L) president of Local 445, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, congratulates Joseph Feraca, a candidate for a seat on the Board of Education of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated, after Feraca was given the endorsement of the union recently. In announcing the "overwhelming endorsement" of Feraca for a school board seat, Alecca said, "We feel that Mr. Feraca has the best interest of the public and students at heart, and has proven himself to be a loyal and dedicated public servant, and we have reason to believe he would serve in the same manner on the Board of Education." Alecca added, "I strongly urge all union members to support Mr. Feraca's candidacy by voting for him on May 4." (Freeman photo by Powell).

KINGSTON
Ted Weiner, a candidate for the Board of Education of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated, has asked for further clarification on several trips taken by school board members at the expense of the school district.

Weiner's request came in a reply to a letter from Board member H. Peter Hoffman that appeared in the "letters to the editor" section of Monday's Daily Freeman.

Weiner's reply to Hoffman follows:

"I want to thank you for answering my question concerning trips taken within the past two years. It was never my intention to criticize every member or every act of the Board of Education, however, neither was it my intention to be criticized for raising questions.

"It is puzzling that if you don't ask questions you are apathetic and if you do ask questions you are making 'sounds'.

"As regards to the numerous hours spent, I assumed you were aware of this when you ran for and accepted the position on the Board. I commend you for what appears to be a sincere interest. Let me assure you that I am well aware of the fact that anyone serving on the Board must be prepared to give a great deal of time and energy.

"Although you have responded to my questions, I haven't heard from other Board members concerning trips and costs that they have made."

"Mr. Hoffman, you mentioned the figure of $500 for your trips. I would also like to know about the trips taken to Texas for one week by three people (not you) and the trip to California by at least two people (again, not you). No one has yet come forth with any information regarding those trips and costs or any other trips and costs.

"I can't evaluate whether any of these trips were necessary, or the money well spent, as there has never been a report brought back to the public as to the purpose of the information derived from these excursions.

"Again, I want to thank you, Mr. Hoffman, for having the courtesy of giving me a direct answer to a direct question."

Underground Botany

YAKIMA, Wash. (UPI)—All those people wanting to grow hops apparently aren't planning to make their own beer.

Charles Massoth, manager of the Washington Hop Commission, reports that growers and an experiment station here have been swamped recently with requests for seeds and roots from hop plants.

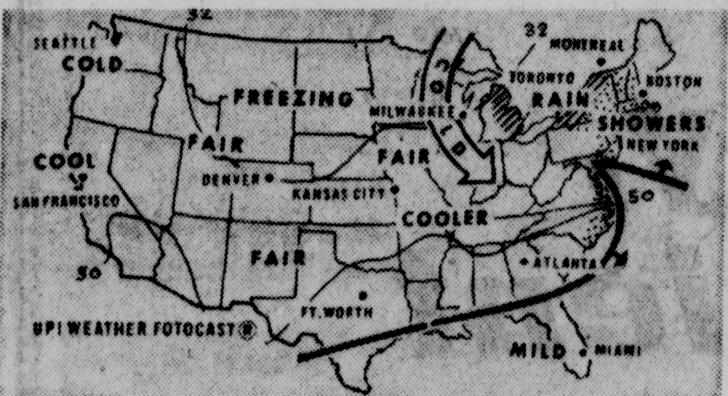

Massoth said he has traced the interest to a pamphlet called "A Cultivator's Handbook of Marijuana," which tells how to graft marijuana to hop vines to produce "a superior grass."

KINGSTON and upstanding citizen of our community.

"Over the years that we in the Communications Workers have known Ward," said Smith, "we have found him to be a very well informed, dedicated resolution."

Chilly Night in Washington for Demonstrators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The second week of a spring antiwar offensive was the chilly night sitting in front of the Internal Revenue Service, where members of the Peoples Selective Service headquarters, singing songs by the flickering light of hand-held candles.

The demonstrators vowed they would block employees from entering the building this morning. Washington Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson said they would be arrested if they did. But the day's main target in together by occasional songs such as "We Shall Overcome" or "Last Night I Had the Strangest Dream."

One young man was arrested as the office closed Tuesday evening during a scuffle over an American flag. The demonstrators sang the national anthem and saluted with peace signs and clenched fists.

As the protest forces continued to pop up at various places in the nation's capital, there were these other developments:

—The District of Columbia National Guard ordered its 1,400 men on training duty next week at Ft. Meade, Md., about 25 miles from Washington, at the request of the Justice Department. It was learned. Next week has been billed as a more militant phase of the protests.

—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., closed his offices indefinitely after a group of protesters invaded his reception room and threw red paint over carpets, books and a copying machine. Goldwater said he was not afraid of the protesters but "I am intimidated by incidents which endanger the young men and women who work for me and I am intimidated by the kind of danger this type of activity holds for our country."

—A group of homosexuals representing the Gay Liberation Front invaded the office of Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., demanding equal rights. "It's not every day when you have men kissing each other in the Senate hallway," Gurney said. "The Vietnam veterans (who protested last week) were a responsible group, but this bunch of protesters now in Washington are a disgrace to America."

—A group calling itself the Coalition for Freedom and Just Peace said it would launch a counterdemonstration to protest the "people's peace treaty" which the antiwar demonstrators have been circulating. The coalition formed from such groups as the American Youth for a Just Peace, the Young Americans for Freedom and the Lincoln Memorial and the Jefferson Memorial. Rogers Summons Ambassador Bruce LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers called in the chief U.S. negotiator from the Paris peace talks today as the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization allies prepared to wind up their two-day meeting.

U.S. officials said Rogers wanted a private, up-to-date report from Ambassador David K.E. Bruce on the lengthy Vietnam negotiations, which still show no sign of a breakthrough. But they said no new U.S. peace initiative is now in the works.

Rogers flies Thursday to Ankara, Turkey, and on Saturday

he begins a week-long trip to four Arab countries and Israel. At the SEATO parley, foreign affairs chiefs of the eight allies focused on a progress report by South Vietnam's Tran Van Lam. The Saigon envoy said his government's forces have more than filled the gap left by the departure so far of more than 250,000 American troops.

"The reality in Vietnam is that we are now capable of defending ourselves and achieving greater security," he said. But he added that SEATO is still needed "to bolster the defense capabilities of the free nations in the treaty area."

"Even if self-reliance is to be the policy for countries in this area," Lam said, "the presence of Western powers in Southeast Asia will remain an essential factor of stability."

Rogers, speaking to the group behind closed doors Tuesday, said the United States will continue economic aid to Vietnam as it phases out militarily. He appealed to SEATO members and countries such as Japan to help South Vietnam's economic development after the war.

The secretary of state sought to counter fears of the allies that U.S. policy will not stay firm. He told them that:

—Vietnam spending is not disrupting the U.S. economy. Expenditures on the war are down 50 per cent and the American economy is healthy.

—News reports of antiwar demonstrations in the United States may give a misleading impression that the American people do not support President Nixon's policy. Rogers said Nixon does have public support from those who stay away from demonstrations.

—Nixon's doctrine for decreasing the U.S. military presence abroad, particularly in Asia, does not mean U.S. abandonment of its responsibilities there. The United States is not getting out of the world or out of the Pacific.

Highway 4 Action Heavy at Several Points

SAIGON (UPI) — Allied commands today reported a sharp drop in Communist activity across South Vietnam but fighting flared at several points along Highway 4 in neighboring Cambodia in the heaviest action there in more than two weeks.

It was so quiet that the U.S. command in Saigon failed to issue a morning communique today for only the third time since such reports were first released in 1966. The South Vietnamese command reported only one clash.

A Saigon government report told of a skirmish Tuesday night 13 miles north of Phu Nhon in the central highlands. It said 20 Communist troops were killed and five weapons captured. There were no South Vietnamese casualties reported.

Four American GIs, three South Vietnamese soldiers and a Vietnamese girl were wounded Tuesday night when a grenade was thrown into a Saigon bar during a fight between two South Vietnamese soldiers.

Communiques from the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh said north Vietnamese forces struck at government positions at four points along Highway 4. Cambodia's link with the nation's only deepwater port of Kompong Som.

Military spokesmen reported at least six government troops killed and 33 wounded in four hours of fighting ending at dawn today. The Communist attacks included an assault against an armored car camp and three government troop concentrations along the highway and jungles south of it.

It was the second consecutive day of heavy fighting in Cambodia after a lull of more than two weeks.

Although Bass promised to keep him posted on the progress of the investigation, Noetzel said, he has heard nothing.

Defense Expected to Call Capt. Kotouc to Stand

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (UPI) — Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc, a former intelligence officer, conceded in an affidavit Tuesday that he accidentally cut off part of the finger of a Viet Cong prisoner while injecting an "element of fear" into his interrogation.

The Army rested its case against Kotouc, 37, of Humboldt, Neb., after introducing the "self-serving statement" as evidence.

Col. Madison Wright, the military judge, dismissed a charge of assault against Kotouc, but rejected a defense motion for a directed acquittal on a charge of maiming.

The defense was expected to complete its case today with Kotouc possibly taking the stand. A seven-member military jury, all but one combat veterans, could get the case late this afternoon.

Kotouc is charged with cutting off the finger of a Viet Cong suspect during interrogation following the infantry sweep of My Lai on March 16, 1968.

Kotouc was pictured by defense witnesses as a man of "high moral character."

Lt. Col. (Ret.) Robert Stewart, Kotouc's former commanding officer, said the intelligence officer was "one of the finest people I've ever been associated with. I think his demeanor toward his fellow man is beyond reproach."

The defense got the case

after the army put on only six witnesses and read the affidavit into the record. Only one of the witnesses positively identified Kotouc as the officer who cut off the finger of the suspect.

In the statement, Kotouc conceded he used "an element of fear" in his effort to get information concerning land mines and booby traps from the "Viet Cong terrorist."

Meanwhile, in Washington, former Green Beret Vietnam veteran has told an unofficial war crimes inquiry that 12 Viet Cong prisoners were dropped to their death from American piloted helicopters and other prisoners were tossed into a room with a python.

Steve Noetzel, 30, now a telephone worker from Floral Park, N.Y., made the statement Tuesday to an inquiry being conducted by Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif. A Dellums spokesman said former members of the American Division called to testify today would tell of the murder of civilians and the destruction of villages in the war zone.

Noetzel told the panel the Army has opened an investigation into his charges.

Noetzel and four other former intelligence agents or prisoners of war interrogators told the committee that Americans and South Vietnamese (ARVN) troops tortured and murdered POWs.

Vote in School Election

Two vacancies on the Board of Education of the Kingston Consolidated School District will be filled by voters in the district Tuesday, May 4. In selecting two members for this important public trust, voters will make their selection from five candidates, two of whom are incumbents.

Willingness of these citizens to give their time and energy to this form of community service is commendable. Will the qualified voters of the school district display similar public interest by going to the polls and casting their ballots for those whom they judge best qualified for this position of trust? These are critical times for education.

In past elections in this school district, there has been a shameful manifestation of apathy upon the part of the people. Last year's total vote of 2,109 was below those of previous years. We don't believe that this disgraceful performance of citizenship—approximately seven per cent of the eligible voters performed their important civic duty—gives evidence of an enlightened electorate.

Residents of the district should realize that the administration of our schools is a vital function of local government. The cost of government is among the top problems of the day and the cost of education is the chief component of the cost of government.

Board of education trustees, who are the representatives of all the people in the consolidated district, are entrusted with the responsibility of coping with problems affecting education on the local level. They adopt an annual budget to finance the operations of the school system, assume responsibility for capital outlay and pass upon recommendations of the superintendent in matters of policy and other pertinent business concerning the administration of the school system.

We need not stress the importance of electing qualified members who will act courageously, independently and objectively on administrative conditions in the system and who will conduct board sessions openly and not in secret. District taxpayers pay the bills for local education, which is one of the largest tax outlays. They are entitled to know how their money is being spent.

Taxpayers who fail to go to the polls forfeit their right to complain about the administration of the school system or the school taxes.

All qualified voters owe it to themselves and the community to exercise their privilege to elect qualified people to run our school system. No one else can do it.

The Welfare Purge

New York State and New York City are facing up to the skyrocketing cost of welfare, with layoffs of state and city workers. They are being sacrificed in order that generous welfare payments may continue to more than one in ten people in their jurisdictions.

In the case of the big city, Mayor John V. Lindsay has used the threat of job reductions effectively in the past to wangle more money from the state for his huge budgets. But this time, his threat to fire 90,000 people was met by Governor Rockefeller's response that he also is having to fire 8,250 people and to leave unfilled 4,000 vacant jobs that are needed for the efficient operation of the state.

While unions of city employees—policemen, firemen, sanitation men and others have met the threatened purges with loud wails, they made no threats of strikes or other job actions, as in the past. Even they realize that you can't wring juice from a stone. Both the city and state have stretched their resources to the limit. The time has come to call a halt.

President Nixon's revenue sharing proposal could help, but probably not wholly rescue the city and state from their dilemma. About the only thing that eventually would pull them out would be for the federal government to make the welfare payments on a nationwide basis, so that prospective recipients would stay home without adding to the congestion of inner cities in search of larger welfare payments.

Multiple War Head

David Lawrence Says U.S. Is Living in State Of Internal Uneasiness

WASHINGTON — The "demonstrations" — mobilizing in Washington at least 200,000 persons from all parts of the country — are incredible, particularly the participation by war veterans. Is it possible that the system of communication between the government and the people is so faulty today in America that millions of citizens, including many of those who were drafted for war service, haven't known the great dangers faced by this country as it sought to protect its interest in Southeast Asia? Is it conceivable that informed citizens would want to see their government deprived of the services of law-enforcement agencies like the FBI at a time when scarcely a day goes by that there isn't a series of bomb explosions across the land and tragedies result from the widespread belief of criminals who feel surely they can't be caught or will not be severely punished?

America is living in a state of internal uneasiness unparalleled in its history, and the running down of criminals is more important than it ever was. Yet there is an outcry from prominent members of Congress and organizations seeking to weaken not only the power of the FBI but of the executive branch of the government which, under the Constitution, is vested with the authority and obligation to preserve order.

It seems incredible also that aspirants for the presidential nomination of the Democratic party are openly encouraging radical groups in their crusades against law-enforcement agencies and are failing to tell their constituents any fundamental facts of American Foreign policy which for the last four decades has sought to maintain a balance of power in Asia and Europe as a means of preserving peace. Those who clamor for the end of the Vietnam War in a humiliating way give no thought to the effect it may have on the prestige or influence of the United States in the world and the fact that a third world war may well be a nuclear one, with the possible loss of the lives of millions of citizens in our country.

The uninformed segment seems to be larger than ever, and the strange thing is that the critics in Congress who should know better are helping to enlarge that opposition by claiming that our help in the Vietnam War was a mistake and that the conflict must be ended by withdrawing all American forces and not insisting on any conditions from the enemy for the future. What is overlooked, of course, is that the Soviet Union and Red China have been furnishing weapons and supplies to North Vietnam amounting to many billions of dollars. This realistic fact has not sunk in, and many persons, including too many members of Congress, have ignored what has confronted the United States in Vietnam from the start. The veterans themselves who participate in "demonstrations" evidently never learned the important factors involved in their own service. Now misguided leaders urge them to cast their medals away and, in effect, raise questions as to their fidelity to the government they served.

Worst of all is the manner in which aspirants to high political office are adding to the misrepresentations by giving the impression that peace will come the moment America announces a date for complete withdrawal of its troops. North Vietnam has given as yet no indication of what its attitude will be toward South Vietnam and whether the war in that country will be over. The North Vietnamese may regard American withdrawal as an opportunity to take over South Vietnam if the United States not only pulls out its combat troops but leaves no residual air force or supply units on hand to assist the people in resisting the Communists.

All these points are well known to foreign governments and have been discussed in the press abroad as well as in this country. Yet a "demonstration" of 200,000 people can be organized to appear in Washington, and plenty of other large groups can stage similar parades in other parts of the country notwithstanding the fact that the major points in American foreign policy have been made clear by the President and supported by a substantial number of members of Congress. How long will the "uninformed" rule the roost and continue to seek a weakening of law-enforcement agencies? These are the questions that make one wonder when a counter-movement will arise to inform the uninformed that they are dealing with the safety of the United States — both external and internal.

SUSPICION AND TENSION — HARVEST OF POSTWAR YEARS

International tension is a measurable sickness. Ours began 25 years ago when World War II ended. Fourteen million Americans were getting out of uniform and the nation was about to return to what Warren G. Harding used to call normalcy. We didn't make it. Neither did anyone else. Two competitive ideologies were left: democracy and communism.

Unhappily, both were for export. One had an atom bomb. Soon, both had it. Then came the hydrogen bomb, and a delivery system called missiles. Economic progress was broken on the wheel of overkill. World leaders, in measured cadence, spoke of a half-hour war.

The world was in tension, and is. For a time, we learned to live with it. But suspicion is a seeping stain. It spread to the emerging nations of Africa, some of which were incompetent to govern themselves. It spread to racism in America. It pitted class against class; craft against craft. The chronic tautness of the human mind is bearable because we forget that there once was pleasant thing called a neighborhood.

I have been quartered in the White House under three Presidents: Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson. There the tension is so high that often the President is called from his sleep to hurry down to the Situation Room to discuss, in bathrobe and slippers, a new and dangerous development. There is no rest for him, for us.

The stain of suspicion spreads. The press distrusts the Administration. The Administration attacks the press. The people half believe what they read and hear. The supreme irony is that in this most magical of progressive centuries, man's mind has come to a dead halt. In his tension, he is no longer sure of himself or the people next door.

Suspicion, well nourished, flowers into hate. The bloom is on us. Twenty-five years after the start of world tension, we find it easier to hate than to love. The world is enslaved by weapons which it dare not use and it covers its fright with venom. We don't enunciate opinions; we spit them.

Somewhere in the miasma of memory, we have lost the definition of truth and justice. The more remote they become, the more we use the words. They fall off the tongue glibly, as though we copyrighted them. At cocktail parties in the house we backbite the friends who are absent.

We live in the age of the mugger. An army general may be a powerful man in many ways, but when, on a lonely night, an arm crooks around his neck and his breathing is throttled, his power is gone and he whimpers for mercy. The columnist and the editor are paid to pontificate, but they are mugged by the letters on their desks.

The liberal preaches Black equality, but doesn't want him in the house next door. A kid named Calley is tried by his peers and found guilty. Half the nation, unqualified to judge, finds him not guilty. Where is truth? What is justice? If you go to jail, that's just. If I go, it is proof that the system is crooked. The clock ticks without hurry, and the tension tightens. Our campus children are politically conscious, but not politically knowledgeable. They prefer Angela Davis to the President. They would rather oppose than propose. A girl who will not sleep with the boys is not virtuous — she's a drag.

In court, does the judicial mind permit itself to wander toward guilt or innocence before the evidence is in? You bet it does. The main concern of our judges is not to seek justice, but to refrain from committing reversible error. There's a difference.

Is it possible to write with complete objectivity? Complete? No, it is not. The brain before the typewriter is human and opinionated. John S. Knight, one of the best editors of my time, writes: "Newspapermen who formulate policy have a commitment to the truth." policy doesn't equate with truth. It's a synonym for bias.

We try. We slip. We strike a sympathetic chord here and there. We take a stand, knowing that the roof will fall in. The credibility gap is not between politicians and the news media; not between parents and children; not between war and peace. It's the difference, in every man, between what he is and what he could be.

Prior to world tension, back behind 1946 somewhere, there was an age when lovers walked hand-in-hand under linden trees; when daddy was the font of knowledge at the dinner table; when peace and security were the norm; when an academic argument was a pleasure; when respect was accorded unasked.

It's gone, and I extend an empty hand to an empty world...

Jack Anderson Says Nixon Believes Recession Is Over, Economy on Rise

WASHINGTON — The recession is over.

This was the substance of President Nixon's report last week to Republican congressional leaders.

"The news is good! The economy is up!" he told them jubilantly at their secret, biweekly White House strategy session.

As evidence, he noted: "The stock market shows it. They know something."

The economic indicators, he said, point upward. He cited rising sales and profits. The gross national product, he added, increased $28.5 billion during the first quarter of the year — $6.5 billion more than the pessimists had predicted.

He promised that unemployment would also start to decline. "There is always a lag in the reduction of unemployment," said the President, "but the projection over a period of time has to be down."

He called upon his budget manager, George Shultz, to tick off the happy statistics. Referring to a fact sheet prepared by White House aide Charles Colson, Shultz reported retail sales were 1.5 per cent higher in March than a year ago, automobile sales were 32 per cent above a year ago and housing increased from 1,700,000 new homes in January to 1,918,000 in March at annual rates.

"A new house," he commented, "needs new rugs and other accessories." Broke in the President, smiling, "The economists no longer argue over whether the economy is improving, but by how much."

Postage Politics.

The Nixon Administration, as one argument for postal reform, said it would take partisanship out of the mail service. But it looks as if they're still playing politics with the postage stamps.

When Postmaster General Winton Blount came to town, he found the six-cent stamp adorned with a portrait of the most popular Democratic President of the century, Franklin Roosevelt. Blount quietly replaced FDR with Dwight Eisenhower, the most popular Republican President of the century.

Now old Blount has got designs on the portrait of John F. Kennedy on the 13-cent air letter sheet. He is trying to raise postage rates, questions. I don't want to talk but in nearly all cases, the new, more expensive stamps will have the same faces as their cheaper predecessors.

Not so with the 13-cent aerogramme air letter sheet which Blount wants to boost to 15 cents. Instead of featuring JFK's portrait, it will be decorated with a flock of birds. At least Blount didn't try to make it a herd of elephants.

Headlines and Footnotes

Suez Attack? — Intelligence reports warn ominously that Arab leaders have asked the Kremlin to back an Egyptian-Libyan-Sudanese attack across the Suez Canal. The Arabs reportedly have urged an immediate strike before the hot summer makes desert operations difficult for fuel-burning planes and tanks. Apparently the Arabs seek a limited offensive to give Arab morale a boost and to bring pressure on Israel to accept Egyptian peace terms.

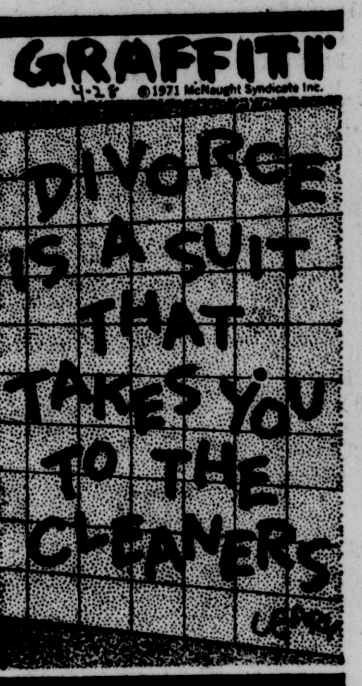

Tipsy Aide — President Nixon's recent statement about preventing alcoholism apparently made no impression on White House aide Roy Francis Turner. He drove his Cadillac the other day into a parked Arlington, Va., taxicab. He was charged with reckless driving and drunkenness. The arresting officer, Don Wilson, said Turner was so drunk that he was jailed for his own protection. The presidential aide forfeited $15.25 on the drunk charge. When we called him about the incident, he acknowledged his involvement in the accident. Then he said, "You're asking too many to you." And he hung up the phone.

Tax Rebellion — Middle-income Americans have their dander up over taxes. They are angry over stories of oil companies which pay few taxes and millionaires who pay none. This has fomented a smoldering tax rebellion, which is building up in the split-level homes of Middle America. For some, federal, state and local taxes seem almost confiscatory. The rumblings from the home front have spurred the move for an overhaul of the nation's tax structure. To save their tax privileges, the special interest have mounted an intense pressure campaign upon Congress. Will they keep their tax blessings or will Americans get more equitable taxes? A classic confrontation is shaping up between the special interest that finance election campaigns and the voters who cast the final ballots.

Hanoi's Maps — U.S. intelligence experts have discovered in a novel way that the North Vietnamese expect to take over all of Vietnam in a short time. North Vietnamese map makers are busily redrawing the maps of the war-racked peninsula with new names. The communists are sticking to traditional Vietnamese names, apparently in hope of convincing the peasants that they're just good Vietnamese at heart.

Medical Malarkey — A distinguished medical editor has rebuked Pfizer Pharmaceutical for holding a health care symposium for "a select group of practicing physicians." Dr. Walter R. Burack, editor of the "New Handbook of Prescription Drugs," wrote Pfizer that the pharmaceutical industry has no business educating doctors because its drug sales make it "an interested third party." In a sizzling reply to an invitation to attend the symposium, Dr. Burack declares somewhat ungraciously: "If all medical students and doctors were truly educated about pharmacology, Pfizer might have a hard time staying in business." Pfizer responded to Burack the symposium is a "non-commercial venture" aimed only at education.

Peking's Fear of Russia

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Some time back, a British friend visited the office of the Peoples Republic of China in London. Though the Chinese indicated strongly they would like to talk at length, they explained they did not have time. They were making preparations to defend themselves against a joint American invasion of the Chinese mainland.

However incredible this may seem to Americans, contacts in Asia affirm there is strong confirmation that one of the great fears in Peking is that Russia and the United States will combine against them.

The fear of Russia is very real. Whatever has been said publicly, prevailing opinion in China for more than three decades has been that Moscow could not be trusted.

In 1944 in Yanan, Mao Tse-tung in private talks made it clear to his listeners that even though he was a strong Communist and although Russia was Communist, he did not like the Russian government or the Russians.

Gradually, over the years all those top Chinese this reporter knew to be pro-Russian have been purged.

Leave out ideology. Think only of old-fashioned national interests. As Mao's people see it, there is the history of Russo-Chinese relations.

Great areas of Soviet Asia were once Chinese. Taking advantage of Peking's weakness over the decades, Russia took over these lands, including Vladivostok.

More recently the Russians detached Outer Mongolia from China, making it one of their satellites.

After war with Japan, Moscow stripped Manchuria bare of every factory, piece of equipment and other resource which could be shipped to Russia. The Russians took away $858 million in food, machine tools, power generators and other equipment and destroyed $2 billion in economic resources in the process.

At another time, it is believed, the Russians attempted to bribe the top Chinese general in Sinkiang province to declare that major area independent of China.

Over the years, Moscow has repeatedly attempted to build up a Soviet faction within the Peking hierarchy and has given covert support to these men against the controlling majority. Peking regards this as an attempt to convert all China into a puppet state controlled by Moscow on the East European models.

The Korean war was a joint Moscow-Peking effort. But the Soviet Union charged Communist China for all the military arms it supplied the Red Chinese forces in that fighting. As a result, military expenses took up to 48 per cent of Peking's budget and brought on severe economic dislocation.

Peking is understood to believe the Soviet moves to establish a naval force in the Indian Ocean are designed to enable Moscow to surround China militarily.

Russian aid to Peking, when given, was not a gift, but loans, which the Chinese had to pay back with heavy shipments of agricultural products and raw materials. There is reason to believe the Great Leap Forward, that unhappy Chinese attempt to build communes, as a desperate attempt to build up agriculture quickly to meet Russian demands for the rapid repayment.

Moscow has persistently used economic pressure (the withdrawal of aid in mid-stream) to bring the Chinese into line with Soviet policy.

Mainland China's leaders, in their national self interest, thus have a very strong need to reach out somewhere to offset this Russian pressure.

In Yanan, 25 years ago, Mao saw this need. There is reason to believe he feels it even more strongly today.

Claim S. Viet Officials Involved In Drugs That Killed 40 U.S. GIs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee says high-ranking, corrupt South Vietnamese officials were involved in drug traffic that killed 40 U.S. GIs last year and accounted for 22,000 trips to sick call.

No evidence was found to support an early suspicion that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were responsible for the rapid increase of heroin use by GIs in Vietnam, it said.

Altogether there were 160 deaths due to drugs and alcohol among U.S. forces worldwide, the special House Armed Services subcommittee said in a report released Tuesday. Drugs were suspected in another 56 GI deaths in Asia and the Pacific area.

The report said up to 10 percent of U.S. soldiers in Vietnam could be using hard drugs. It blamed what it called an increasingly serious heroin problem on abundant supplies from processing laboratories in Laos, with heroin coming also from Thailand and Hong Kong.

"Drug suppression in Vietnam is almost completely ineffective," it said, "partially because of an ineffective local police force and partially because some presently unknown corrupt officials in public office are involved in the drug traffic."

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. G. Elliott Hagan, D-Ga., estimated 50 to 60 per cent of all servicemen use or have experimented with drugs, mostly marijuana, and said the percentage in Vietnam is probably higher.

A recent report from the Pacific Command said 1,404 GIs were hospitalized from drug use in Vietnam in 1970 and estimated from 1,800 drug-related cases in sick call in December there were 22,000 for the full year.

The finding that "high government officials" in the South Vietnamese government are involved in drug traffic was based on a briefing from two U.S. civilian narcotics agents in Saigon.

They said opium and heroin are smuggled by the traditional ethnic Chinese traffickers, who are aided by corrupt officials. "While it's democratic, the plain and simple facts are that the military rules the government in this country," an agent said. "In that situation the participation of military officials in the traffic is greatly facilitated."

FIRST BLACK ADMIRAL — Capt. Samuel L. Gravely, a former railway postal clerk from Richmond, Va., who now commands a guided missile frigate steaming home from Vietnam, has been selected to become the U. S. Navy's first black admiral. Pentagon sources said Gravely, 48, was picked from three candidates for the promotion. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Republicans At Woodstock Meet Thursday

WOODSTOCK — Woodstock Republican Club will meet Thursday 8 p. m. at Deane's Restaurant.

Program for the meeting will be in the form of a discussion or "rap" session.

President Robert Hanscom explained the "rap" session in this manner. "There are many directions in which a club such as ours can move forward. What I want to find out is, what do the members believe can and should be done by the club. All registered Republicans in Woodstock are eligible to become members. Everyone there will have a chance to air his views."

"Many important issues will be considered during the coming months, climaxing with the election in November. We want the club to have an active year and we want the members to have a say in all the activities."

Man Critical After Shooting, Police Probing

TOWN OF ULSTER — State Police BCI officers from the Kingston Zone Headquarters today continued investigation of a case involving Edward Cooper Jr., 57, of Tustenbridge Road, this township, who suffered bullet wounds which authorities said were apparently self-inflicted.

According to vague information from state troopers, the man apparently shot himself at his home Tuesday with a .22 caliber rifle.

A spokesman at Benedictine Hospital where Cooper was admitted following the incident, said the man's condition is listed as critical.

BCI Investigator W. E. Wiedemann, who investigated, was not available for comment today and troopers at the Lake Katrine station said they had no further information about the case.

Two Queens Men Are Nominated For Judgeships

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Two Queens attorneys have been nominated for judgeships on the State Court of Claims by Gov. Rockefeller.

The governor asked the Senate today to confirm Louis Laurino and Joseph Modugno for the posts. Judges on the court are paid $35,333 a year.

Laurino, 44, is president-elect of the Queens County Bar Association and formerly headed the Queensboro Chamber of Commerce. He has long been active in public affairs.

The other nominee is a 58-year-old veteran politician who served as a member of the New York City Council from 1963 to 1969.

Laurino would succeed the late John Carroll Young of Fayetteville in a term expiring December 31, 1974. Modugno would succeed Alexander DelGiorno, who has retired, for a term ending March 13, 1975.

The court hears claims by citizens against the state.

Ruling Is Due On Welfare List To Newspaper

HARRISBURG (AP) — Commonwealth Court Judge Roy Wilkinson Jr. has promised a ruling this week on a motion by the Philadelphia Inquirer to require the Welfare Department to provide it access to names, addresses and payments to all Philadelphians on public assistance.

The department opposed the motion on the grounds it would violate confidential requirements. Inquirer attorneys said taxpayers have suffered and will continue to suffer irreparable harm if deprived of access to the records.

Marx S. Leopold, the department attorney said the basic question involved the public's right to know versus the recipients' right to privacy and said this must be decided before access to the lists could be granted.

John McMullan, Inquirer executive editor, testified he wanted to assign a task force of reporters to check the list for ineligible recipients, deceased recipients, duplicate payments and other abuses.

"As things stand now, we are able to print only what the government makes available for us to print," McMullan said. "This smacks more of Russia than the American way of doing things."

Rodney Arnold Sentencing Is Reset for May 12

KINGSTON — Sentencing of Rodney H. Arnold, 30, convicted of first degree manslaughter in the shooting death of Mrs. Elizabeth Blaustein near Accord on June 1, 1970, was postponed today until May 12 by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Mino stated he had not received the pre-sentencing report from the probation office, and this was the reason for postponing the sentencing.

May 12 also will be the date for any motions by the defense, and Defense Attorney Francis Martocci reserved his right to make such motions at that time.

Postal Rate Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Rate Commission has set May 17 for the start of hearings on the U.S. Postal Service's request for $1.45 billion a year in higher rates.

First-class mail would be raised from 6 to 8 cents, airmail from 10 to 11, and other classes by one-third; the service also intends to raise second class mail by 142 percent over a five-year period.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market opened higher in active trading today.

Although profit taking has developed from time to time since the middle of last week, many analysts saw room for further advance. They cited general optimism about the economy and higher first quarter corporate earnings from some of the nation's biggest corporations, including U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors and Texaco.

Quotations by Hornblower and Weeks, Hemphill, Noyes Inc., members of the New York Stock Exchange, Kingston representatives, Paul Con and Theodore Peck, 15 Market Street, Poughkeepsie, phone 451-5011.

Peace Corps Interest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Applications to join the Peace Corps, which had dropped steadily for the past four years, now are increasing, according to the agency.

As of last Friday, 19,180 persons had applied this year to become Peace Corps volunteers, compared with a total last year of 19,022. There are about 8,000 Peace Corps volunteers working in about 60 nations.

Welfare Agencies Resist Paying in Teenager Case

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Larry Coffey, a teen-ager who lost both feet because of frostbite and who remained in a hospital while welfare agencies argued over who should pay his bill, has been released from the Albany Medical Center.

Coffey, 17, was fitted with artificial limbs despite the disagreement over his bill -- which totals $10,000--and has returned to Virginia to live with his mother and eight brothers and sisters, a spokesman for the medical center said Tuesday.

The spokesman said the cost of hospital care and treatment, as well as the prosthetic devices, has not been paid. He said he hoped the red tape could be cut without having to take the welfare agencies to court.

Larry suffered frostbite while sleeping in a railroad freight car in Albany in December. But welfare officials in Albany County said the youth's last address was in neighboring Schenectady, and Schenectady County welfare officials should pay his bill.

While the agencies haven't resolved the matter, it was an unnamed Albany County welfare official who instructed the hospital to go ahead with the artificial limbs, but the cost of the financial problem came to light a month ago when Coffey had been in the $86 a day hospital room.

Vote to Keep Draft But Hold Control of Force Size

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee has voted to keep the draft alive for two more years but also to give Congress control for the first time over the size of the armed services and the number of draftees.

The draft measure passed by the Armed Services Committee Tuesday headed for lengthy debate in the Senate floor, where war critics were expected to try to trim the draft authority back to only one more year and to make larger cuts in the manpower level.

The committee acted a few hours after Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird revealed that draft calls for the rest of 1971 would not exceed 10,000 in any month--the lowest continuing military callup rate in six years. Laird also said the United States will spend about $8 billion in Vietnam during the business year starting July 1, about one-third of the peak Vietnam expenditure in 1968.

The draft bill passed by the committee would authorize the government to spend more than $1 billion for pay and benefits to meet the Nixon administration goal of an all-volunteer Army and a zero draft call. The committee voted that the "end strength" of the armed forces should be cut from a requested 2.6 million in June 30, 1972, to 2.5 million. While the cut is not big, it would establish the principle of congressional control over the size of the standing Army--something that has been under the traditional control of the executive branch. In addition, the committee imposed an outside limit of 150,000 on the number of men the president could draft in any one year--a provision that could be suspended under a national emergency.

Caulfield Fair In Hospital; Inhaled Fumes

KINGSTON — Joseph F. Caulfield, 41, of West Shokan, who suffered from monoxide gas fumes while working on his car in the family garage, today was listed as fair son, Goerge, who was credited with saving the man's life by administering oxygen until firemen and an ambulance crew discovered him unconscious in the garage by his 14-year-old vice arrived.

Army News

GRAFENWOHR, GERMANY—Specialist Four Scott J. Nesbitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilkin Nesbitt, Leufenkill Road, Ellenville, is working on an unusual construction project with the U.S. Army Engineer Corps in Germany.

The 21-year-old soldier is a crawler tractor operator in Company B, 547th Engineer Battalion, near Darmstadt, but is on temporary duty with Company A of the battalion. Company A has been assigned the job of building the range site for the 1971 Prix Le Clerc games to be held this summer near Grafenwohr.

The Prix Le Clerc is an annual military competition in which all NATO countries are invited to participate. The games consist of a combat cross country run, an arduous obstacle course run, and a three-course rifle range match. The construction of the range and obstacle course is an exacting job. It requires a high degree of accuracy in layout and design to insure conformity for all contestants.

Spec. Nesbitt, who entered the army in September 1968, was last stationed in Vietnam.

FT. LEWIS, WASH.—Private Paul Tennenbaum, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Tennenbaum, 2 Linden Street, Ellenville, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Infantry, Ft. Lewis, Wash.

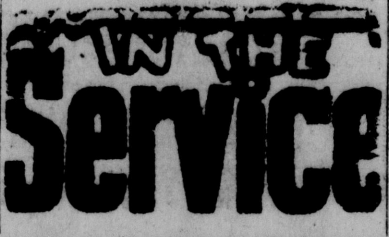

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

Pvt. Tennenbaum is a 1967 graduate of Ellenville High School, and received his BS degree in 1971. He attended Iowa State University, Ames, and Adelphi University, Garden City, N. Y. He is a member of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity.

Veteran's Tips On Mortgages

KINGSTON A release from liability can save a veteran grief and anxiety when he sells his GI loan financed home. This is what can happen if he doesn't produce a release in writing from the VA. A buyer agrees to take over the payment of the GI loan upon purchasing a home from a veteran. He then defaults on the loan. Without a release from liability, the veteran becomes liable for the amount the VA pays the lender because of the default. This is so, even though the veteran no longer owns the property. Best course of action: Get that release in writing from the VA before signing a sales contract!

Grievance day in most New York State towns is the third Tuesday in June. Veterans considering filing for real property tax exemption should begin now to acquire data needed to substantiate claims. Eligible funds considered for exemption: severance or retirement pay, mustering-out pay, death gratuity, lump sum payments to Army and Navy Air Corps Reserve Officers, disability benefits, proceeds from sale of exempt property, four per cent payment made by VA for first year on guaranteed portion of a GI loan on real property, subsistence allowance while studying under the GI Bill, death compensation and death pension benefits, World War I federal bonus, World War I and World War II N.Y.S. bonus, readjustment allowance (53-20 Club), cash surrender value, dividends, and proceeds of NSLI and USGLI policies, N.Y.S. blind annuity, and P.O.W. compensation. Because it takes time to write for and receive statements of these benefits, now's a good time to start. Begin by stopping in at the local office of the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs located at County Office Building, Kingston, New York. A State Veteran Counselor is available for counseling and assistance in applying for this benefit. (Office hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.—Monday thru Friday.)

Housing Problem In Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's federal capital has a king-sized housing headache.

Six crowned heads of state are expected to pay ceremonial visits in coming months, the most impressive parade of royalty since England's Queen Elizabeth stayed here in 1965.

Yet the city's only residence fit for a king, the Hotel Petersberg, has gone out of business and the government has no guest house for VIP visitors permanently at its disposal.

"You may have to bring your own caravan (house trailer) to live in," President Gustav Heinemann joked to Holland's Queen Juliana last year when he invited her to visit.

The jest goes too close to the bone to amuse government officials responsible for housing and royal guests.

The first arrivals will be King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola of Belgium. They will spend the first day of their April 27-29 German state visit in Bonn.

Perhaps the most anxiously awaited couple are Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako of Japan. The emperor arrives October 11 during a European junket which will be the first venture in history outside the land of the rising sun by a reigning Japanese monarch.

A fortnight after his departure Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands are due October 26.

No dates have been set for anticipated visits by Swedish King Gustav V Adolf, King Frederik

IX of Denmark and Norway's King Olaf V.

The Belgians—and probably the Dutch and Japanese royal couples as well—will have to make do with the "chancellor's bungalow," the residence in the grounds of the Palais Schaumburg where Chancellor Willy Brandt has his office.

The residence housed Brandt's predecessors Ludwig Erhard and Kurt Georg Kiesinger but no important state guests have ever stayed there.

Brandt prefers to live in the house he occupied as foreign minister, allowing the chancellor's bungalow to be used for receptions. But his successor might decide to live there.

The house is being refurbished but it remains too small for an entire royal party.

When the Belgian royal couple arrives, their immediate followers will stay in the so-called Palm House in the grounds of President Heinemann's Villa Hammerschmidt. Other staff members will be put up in various hotels.

"The situation is regrettable," a Foreign Ministry protocol spokesman admitted.

"The chancellor's bungalow is an adequate temporary solution but nobody pretends it is ideal. That's why something better will have to be found."

There was no housing problem for visiting VIP's in the years when the historic Hotel Petersberg was still a going concern.

Millionaire businessman Ferdinand Muelhens of "4711" eau de cologne fame built the palatial spa hotel 50 years ago on the highest peak in the Seven Mountains, giving it an eagle's eye-view of the Rhine valley in which nearby Bonn lies.

Pre-war British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was the hotel's first state guest. He stayed there in 1938 while he and Hitler discussed the fate of Czechoslovakia.

From the end of the last world war until 1952, the hotel was the residence of the three Allied High Commissioners of occupied West Germany.

First post-war chancellor Konrad Adenauer was called to the hotel in 1949 to sign the Petersberg Agreement, the occupation statute which formed the basis of war-ravaged Germany's reconstruction.

The Muelhens "4711" dynasty took it over again in 1954, refurbished it and rented it to a Duesseldorf hotel concern.

The government housed its most important guests there from 1955 to 1969. The long list included England's Queen Elizabeth, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi and Queen Soraya of Iran, former Indian prime minister Pandit Nehru and daughter Indira Gandhi—later to follow in his footsteps—General Charles de Gaulle and the Greek and Thai royal couples.

The burgers of Bonn still speak with awe and pride of lavishly entertaining by such visitors as Queen Elizabeth, who had six tons of royal silver flown from Buckingham Palace for her three-day stay.

Big Profit For Truck Hijackers

By EDWARD V. MCCARTHY
NEW YORK (UPI)—The driver of a big trailer truck wheeled his rig through the almost impossibly congested streets of New York City recently—one of some 250,000 similar trucks that move precious cargo in, and out and around the city every day.

He stopped for a traffic light and silently cursed the heavy traffic, paying no mind to the auto carrying three men, that drew longside.

While one man remained at the car's steering wheel, the other two men jumped out. One went to the passenger side of the truck cab, the other climbed to the driver's side and poked a revolver in his face.

No words were spoken. They didn't need to be. The truck driver—call him Tom Smith for the purposes of this account—has been around for a while and he knew the classic picture. He quickly got out of the cab and into the back of the car, lying on the floor. The man with the gun climbed in beside him and the car drove off. The third man drove the truck away.

Worthless Cargo

After several hours of aimlessly driving the car around, the gunman took Tom's driver's license and let him out on a quiet residential street, unharmed.

The gunman and his pal then sped to a pre-determined "drop" where they knew their partner was there. The truck was there—and the air was blue with curses.

What, the other two wanted to know, was the problem? Their partner led them around to the truck's rear and gave them a look at the cargo.

It was thousands of brassiers—but specially designed for women who had undergone surgical removal of one breast—a cargo totally without value to hijackers. They had made a classic goof.

Squad's Size Secret

This is one of the few hijack stories New York City Police Capt. Thomas P. Kissane can tell with any degree of amusement.

As boss of the Detective Division's Safe, Loft and Burglary Squad—with a squad of men so small the department keeps the exact number secret to avoid giving "aid and comfort to the enemy"—it is his job not only to track down truck hijackers, but round up safecrackers and burglary rings, which abound in the richest city in the nation.

The men in the "heist" described were labeled "freelancers" by Kissane and his right-hand man, Sgt. Tom Connolly.

Most jobs, Kissane said in an interview, are not so amateur but are pulled by professionals associated directly with the organized underworld—and they almost always know beforehand just what truck and what cargo they are looking for. They work on contract.

"Let's say," Capt. Kissane said, "that the head of a certain organization needs a large supply of cigarettes for his various outlets around the city—they are running low. 802 ryyrzbhl hijack 4-11 ko WH for rel Sun. April 11 or after 1st add 801 xxx running low.

"A man planted 'inside'—for a fee of about $1,000—tips them off when a fully loaded rig is going out with a cargo worth $200,000 on the retail market.

Three professional heisters—for a fee ranging from $5,000 to $10,000, but averaging about $7,000 per job—are contacted and told when the truck is leaving, its route and where it is headed.

"They decide where best to hit it and the hijack is made—just as in the case of the hijacked brassiers.

"The wheelman who takes the truck gets a fee of about $2,500. He drives to a warehouse either owned or leased by the organized crime types.

"There, three to four men—hired at fees from $50 to $100 each—unload the truck. These are guys with records who don't have a regular occupation and are picking up a quick, tax-free buck.

"The wheelman then drives the truck to a point miles from the warehouse and abandons it, where it will finally be spotted by a radio patrol car and the word is passed on to us.

Loot Easily Sold

"By then, of course," Kissane sighed, "it is too late. The cargo has long since been disposed of. It is almost all pure profit. There is virtually no overhead."

"How do they get rid of the loot? Easily," Capt. Kissane said. "Through many contacts. Cigarettes and liquor are the biggest hijack items for this reason."

Growth Balance Needed, Looks Tells Industrialists

NEWBURGH — Mid-Hudson industrialists were told recently they "must be prepared to play a significantly expanded role in housing and community development if the growing problems of the Mid-Hudson Region are to be met," C. David Looks, speaking before a luncheon session of the Mid-Hudson Industrial Association at the Holiday Inn, Newburgh, indicated that despite cutbacks in public spending and a general decline in economic activity, "the problems and challenges connected with regional growth are still with us, only more so."

Cancer Crusade in Marbletown

MARBLETOWN — The Town of Marbletown Cancer Crusade for 1971 is in progress with volunteer crusaders of this community visiting each home with its educational message and to seek financial support for the American Cancer Society's programs of Research, Education and Service to Patients.

Mrs. Ross K. Osterhoudt, who is coordinating the drive in memory of her late husband, said the local goal is $1,800.

All Cancer Crusaders are readily identified by the Crusade badges they will be wearing and are listed as follows:

Stone Ridge — Mrs. Charles Gray, Mrs. Frank Arra, Jesse Barnhart, Mrs. Arthur Eldridge, Mrs. Gerald Cahill, Miss Carol Nilsen, Mrs. George Larsen, Mrs. Richard J. Gelston, Mrs. Earl Christiana, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon McGrath, Mrs. Dominic Vellaccio, Mrs. Wayne Bush, Mr. and Mrs. John Parete Jr., Mrs. Robert Parmelee, Mrs. Lawrence Miller, Mrs. Walter Highland, Mrs. Albert H. Wolfersheim.

Marbletown — Mrs. Charles Dennington, Mrs. Kenneth Cole, Mrs. Richard Staubly, Mrs. Gordon Davenport.

High Falls — Mrs. Charles Ayasse, Miss Kathy Schaefer, Mrs. James Chick, Mrs. Henry Miller.

Schimmrich, Mrs. David Rask, Mrs. Alvin Nicholas, Mrs. Robert Gerdes, Mrs. James Feth, Mrs. John Barman, Mrs. Carlton Beach, Mrs. John Hall, Mrs. Morris Davenport.

Lomontville — Mrs. Robert Davenport, Mrs. Raymond Van Kleeck, Mrs. Karlton Bowers, Mrs. Kenneth VanWagenen, The Vly — Mrs. Reginald Palen, Mrs. Thomas Olsen, Mrs. Fred Holmes.

Atwood — Mrs. John Ferran, Mrs. Harold J. Kearney Jr., Cottickill — Carl Gazlay, Mrs. Robert Diamond, Pacoma — Mrs. Ruby Dudley, Mrs. Marilyn Cooke, Lyonsville — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burger, Kripplebush — Mrs. Robert Hough, Robert Kelder, Mrs. Chester Miller.

Looks, president of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, a seven-county region planning and development corporation with headquarters at Stewart Airport, noted that population growth must be balanced by economic growth if the region's needs are to be met. Economic growth, in turn, he said, is tied to the level of public investment in supporting facilities and services such as highways, educational institutions, water and sewer systems, and urban renewal.

"The critical problem confronting the region now is how to maintain the required level of public expenditures in the face of tight fiscal conditions, especially at the state level," Looks declared.

Looks stressed that despite the existing state of the economy, with industrial cutbacks and high unemployment rates in several Mid-Hudson counties, "it is still not a time to lean back and see what will happen. Rather, this is a chance to 'catch up' in our preparations for growth, and where possible to try and move it along."

New Treatment
For Leukemia

NEW YORK (AP) — Acute lymphocytic leukemia, a killer of more young children in this country than any other disease, is yielding to treatment with potent drugs and radiation, according to a leading researcher.

In a report Monday in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Donald Pinkel, of St. Jude's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., said those victims given "total therapy" may survive at least five years, free of disease.

Dr. Pinkel said that the use since 1967 of "total therapy"—involving irradiation of the skull and spinal column—preceded and followed by intensive drug treatment—has produced over 250 per cent better results than the "conventional" single-drug treatment.

Dr. Pinkel noted that only an estimated 20 to 30 per cent of young victims of the cancerous blood condition receive anything like "total therapy."

The doctor cautioned that the intense drug regimen has potentially dangerous side effects on vital organs and immune defenses. In some cases, in fact, children freed of leukemia have died of the side effects.

"The treatment of acute leukemia is still evolving," he said.

Yet, he added leukemia has at least "shifted from an inpatient to an outpatient disease, which is remarkable in itself."

"Leukemia beds are empty because the kids are out and well. A lot of institutions are starving for patients."

LOW-LOW PRICES ON ALL AMF LAWN EQUIPMENT

We think lawnmowers are for mowing. Not for fixing.

The 22" Model 1254 is that kind of mower. It features a solid, long wearing gear-driven self-propulsion system. And the power is on the front wheels, not the back... so all you have to do is tilt the machine back to turn it. You don't have to take it out of gear.

AMF's quadramatic suspension is another dependable effort saver. You adjust cutting height from 1" to 3" while the mower is running—simply by moving a lever.

The exclusive "Flexor" blade is still another feature. It bends... and the crankshaft doesn't have to. So we can guarantee the crankshaft for the life of the mower.

There's a lot more to the 1254, too. And a lot of other AMF models. All have the famous Flexor blade and a work-saving grass catcher. Some even have electric key start.

Final Budget Figures Released By Ellenville Village Manager

By WADE BURKHART ELLENVILLE

Final figures for the budget for 1971-72 were released by Village Manager Lawrence E. Eyres Tuesday.

Total general fund appropriations are $631,504.23. Of this figure, the amount to be raised by real property taxes is $447,133.50.

The tax rate per $1,000 will be $33.71, a jump of $3.07 over last year's $30.64.

Eyres' proposed budget, submitted to the board of trustees for approval, called for a tax rate of $33.58, but this was before the extent of the state aid could be determined.

State aid will be lost in the following areas and amounts: highways, lost $3,700; recreation for the elderly, lost $1,000; youth programs, lost $1,500; community beautification, lost $6,125; narcotics program, lost $2,000.

Because of the loss of state aid, the community beautification program has been discontinued entirely for next year.

The board reduced the proposed budget by $10,055. They raised items by $5,750 and reduced others by $13,805. The most significant increases were $4,000 more for mental health, and $1,500 more in the contingency fund.

The mental health money is for the support of the Mental Health Clinic for Southern Ulster, which recently opened in Ellenville. The $1,500 extra in the contingency fund is there in case they have to raise the salary of the police justice's clerk from the $500 to which they reduced it.

Beside the justice clerk's reduction from $2,000 to $500 per year, the elimination of the beautification program will save a total of $8,525 in salaries and expenses. A part-time clerk typist was eliminated from the village clerk's office, a reduction of $2,480 per year. The salary from the fire safety inspector was reduced from $3,300 per year to $1,200. The board hopes to secure the help of the volunteer firemen in filling the post.

The water fund budget will be $131,500 and the sewer fund $214,655.63. The water fund will hopefully have its usual surplus, and help bail out the sewer fund, which has run in the red since the sewers were built.

Informational Hearing Set

RHINEBECK In keeping with a Board of Education policy for the past two years, the Rhinebeck Board will hold a public informational budget hearing this coming Monday evening at the high school cafeteria.

Board President Hans Boehm explained that the regular method of presenting the finalized budget to the public at the annual meeting, one day before the vote, did not give the Board a chance to implicate any viable suggestions.

While final figures or tax rates will not be available Monday because the budget will not be completed, "functional suggestions" will be gladly received, said Boehm.

He noted that indications from the state have been that the school district should use the same state aid formula in figuring this budget as it did last year.

And while he said that the Board does not comment officially on contract negotiation progress with the professional staff, the talks are "coming along."

At Monday's Board of Education meeting, it was noted that the district will accept bids for transportation for students. Golden Arrow bus lines has had the contract for the past three years. The district maintains no buses of its own.

And it was decided that the district will once again bid for fuel oil through the state, as it did last year.

Increase in UCCC Freshman Enrollment

STONE RIDGE Admission applications for the freshman class at Ulster County Community College are above expectations.

Dr. George B. Erbsstein, president of the college told the board of trustees meeting last night that to date 867 persons have applied for admission to the freshman class at UCCC next fall. This represents an increase over comparable admissions at the same time last year and is more than was anticipated at this time this year. Projected enrollment figures for the fall term including the incoming freshman and returning students is estimated at 1,374 full time.

the Stone Ridge campus, the board of trustees approved a one-year diploma program in Landscape Development and Maintenance effective September 1, 1972.

The Earth Committee will deliver a presentation on the work they have been doing during the school year. Following refreshments a short business meeting will be held for committee reports and election of officers for the 1971-72 school year.

The proposal now goes to the Central Administration Office of the State University for approval. On April 2, a committee composed of community representatives endorsed the proposed one-year program. Louis Berger of Ellenville, chairman of the board's scholarship committee reported that $4,680 has been contributed to date to the scholarship fund.

He added that additional scholarship contributions are expected and sorely needed. Those interested in assisting may contact Berger or the president at the college.

Open house will be held at the Stone Ridge campus this Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. Lectures, exhibits and entertainment are planned by all divisions at the college. Included will be a concert on the plaza outside the Macdonald DeWitt Library at 3:30 p.m.

Library Aids Youth Group

WOODSTOCK Woodstock Library is eager to support Woodstock's Youth Council and has given a large box of selected paperbacks for the teenage recreation center. Richard Mellert, chairman of the Youth Council, said he is delighted to have this extension of recreational facilities available in the center and that reading for fun makes a nice compliment to the ping pong, billiards and music already available. The teenagers will be allowed to take the books home for enjoyment in their more quiet moments with the understanding that they will return them to the youth center. Mrs. Richard Langham, president of the Library, said in making this gift that all reading stretches the mind whether it is for fun or for information, and Mrs. Richard Roberts, librarian, added that she hoped the youngsters would enjoy the books enough to want more and find their way, as many have already, to the library where the supply is almost infinite. National Library Week is observed April 18 to 24 and is also Forgiveness Week at the Woodstock Library.

Perry said, "We don't know if we'll be able to find all the kids something to do, but with the cooperation of the local merchants and businesses we will place as many as possible. Members of the Youth Council that may be contacted about the project are Mrs. Jane Allen, Ted Geertsema, Richard Mellert, or Perry.

Platform Statement

SAUGERTIES
The Concerned Taxpayers Party, which has entered three candidates for the Saugerties Central School Board election May 5, this week issued a statement listing its key platform items.

The candidates running for the three vacancies on the board are Robert Francello, Barclay Street; Earl Benjamin, West Saugerties and Peter Kramer, Malden-on-Hudson. Three incumbents retiring from the board this year are Robert Herb of Malden-on-Hudson; Charles P. Emerick of West Camp and John H. Bragg, Blue Mountain.

The three key platform items are as follows:

One item stressed communications—"A good school system must have the support of the community. Without this support, financial and moral, budgets are defeated and a lack of trust develops. These symptoms are indicative of a lack of communications. Fortright and detailed explanations of district expenditures must be made public. In order to bridge this communications gap we pledge a responsive and working relationship with the taxpayers."

Another aim is to reassert the role of the board—"Board members are state officials who are elected at the local level. We envision our role to be the employer. In this capacity we are responsible only to the taxpayers. We will assume the authority vested in us by law and entrusted to us by you. We will make policy decisions, we will accept the responsibility for the operation and management of the schools. We will not abdicate our authority."

The third item is financial accountability to the community—"It will be the goal of our candidates to provide the district taxpayers with a thorough explanation of the expenditures of district funds. Several members of the present board are working in the direction of providing a detailed budget with common sense explanations for the residents of our district. We pledge our support."

Saugerties Area News

School Voting Topic

BLUE MOUNTAIN
A Candidates' Night will be featured at a special meeting of the Grant D. Morse P-TA unit at 7:30 tonight at the school cafeteria. All candidates who have filed for the three positions open on the Board of Education of the Saugerties School District have been invited to appear.

Candidates will be given an opportunity to present their views and a question period will follow.

The second portion of the program will be presentation of a panel to discuss and answer questions on current problems and goals in the district. Representing the school administration will be Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools and Harold Bell, administrative assistant. Saugerties Teachers' Association will be represented by Thomas Zulick, president, and Mrs. Michael Piastro. Completing the panel will be two members of the school board, president Anthony Rizzo and Donald Calderwood.

Mrs. James Chase, program chairman, will serve as moderator. There will be no business conducted at this special meeting and the public is urged to attend to meet the school board candidates before voting on May 5.

Candidate's Views

SAUGERTIES
Robert M. Durham of Hemlock Lane, seeking one of the three vacancies on Saugerties Central School Board this week announced his statement of policy.

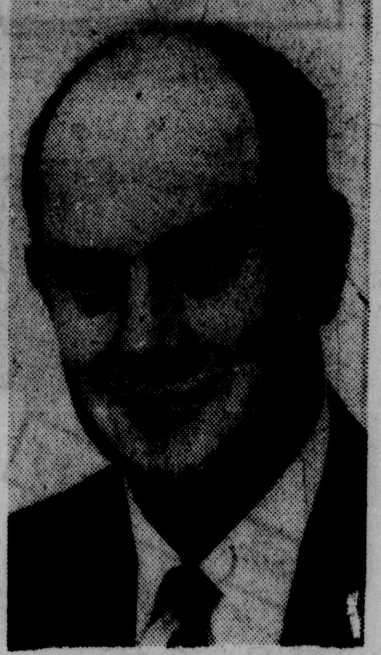

Durham said that he has a genuine interest in the school system and, if elected, will do all in his power to assist the Board of Education and the school administrations in solving the problems of the district.

He feels that the district has some problems with discipline, serious problems with narcotics distribution and use, and the cost of operating the district on a per pupil ratio is too high in comparison to the state and national averages. These areas need much work and time in order to provide solutions and he is willing to give of his time to help find the solutions.

He would also attempt to have press coverage of all public board meetings so that the public may be made aware of what is going on in the district, rather than have press releases, which is the current method of reporting to the public.

Durham has resided in the Barclay Heights area of Saugerties since October, 1969. He is a programmer with IBM in Kingston and has been with IBM for over 16 years. He has resided in many areas of the country and is a native of Kentucky. He has six children, two boys and four girls who will all be attending the Saugerties Schools in the next school year.

He further states that, if elected, he will act as an individual, and not as a part of any group, on matters relating to the school district or any of its functions. He believes in providing a top quality education for every student, but that this should be done with the least possible cost to the taxpaying public.

A bus trip to Shea Stadium is planned for Sunday, June 13. For a reserved seat and round trip transportation, contact Mrs. John J. Wood immediately.

Mrs. Jan Dengler accepted chairmanship of a cake sale to augment the Auxiliary funds on June 5.

The Gold Star Mothers who are Auxiliary members will be remembered on Mother's Day with a flower token.

Hospital chairman, Mrs. Ruth Prendergast, received $35 to participate in the carnival events at Castle Point Hospital. Saugerties has a fishing pond with prizes awarded for each "catch." Saugerties also donated $80 to the Hospital's loan closet which supplies the vet-

School Band Pushes Drive For Uniforms

SAUGERTIES
Saugerties Senior High School Band, in an effort to raise $6,000 to purchase new band uniforms, recently began an industrial and business campaign.

This campaign is aimed at all stores, corporations, industries, and service organizations in the Saugerties area. Letters are being mailed, which will be followed by phone calls and visits by a student committee. Any organization or business that is missed may donate by mailing their contribution to the Senior High School Band, at the high school.

The band has previously sponsored activities that have netted $1,500. The total needed is $6,000. Future plans include a bake sale, concert, and door-to-door campaign. Any individual who would like to donate to this very worthy cause is urged to mail his contribution to the band.

Dutchess Representative Expounds on County Agency

County Representative Madison Sipperley Jr. expounded today on one of the county agencies responsible for consumer protection, the Department of Weights and Measures.

He has previously suggested that this group be incorporated into some type of consumer protection agency on the county level, and noted that considerable discussion in Board sessions has gone into just such a possibility.

"Did you know that the county owns a truck equipped with a 100-gallon and 300-gallon prover tank?" he asked in his informative report to constituents.

"These test the meters on oil trucks. The same truck is equipped to test heavy-duty scales," he reported.

The county has its own set of official weights and measures standards. They must be checked in Albany every five years, or more often if the County Sealer believes it to be necessary.

The County Sealer's job requires him to travel a good deal. He sees that the grocery store scales register accurately, and that the gas pump reads 10 gallons when you actually receive 10 gallons.

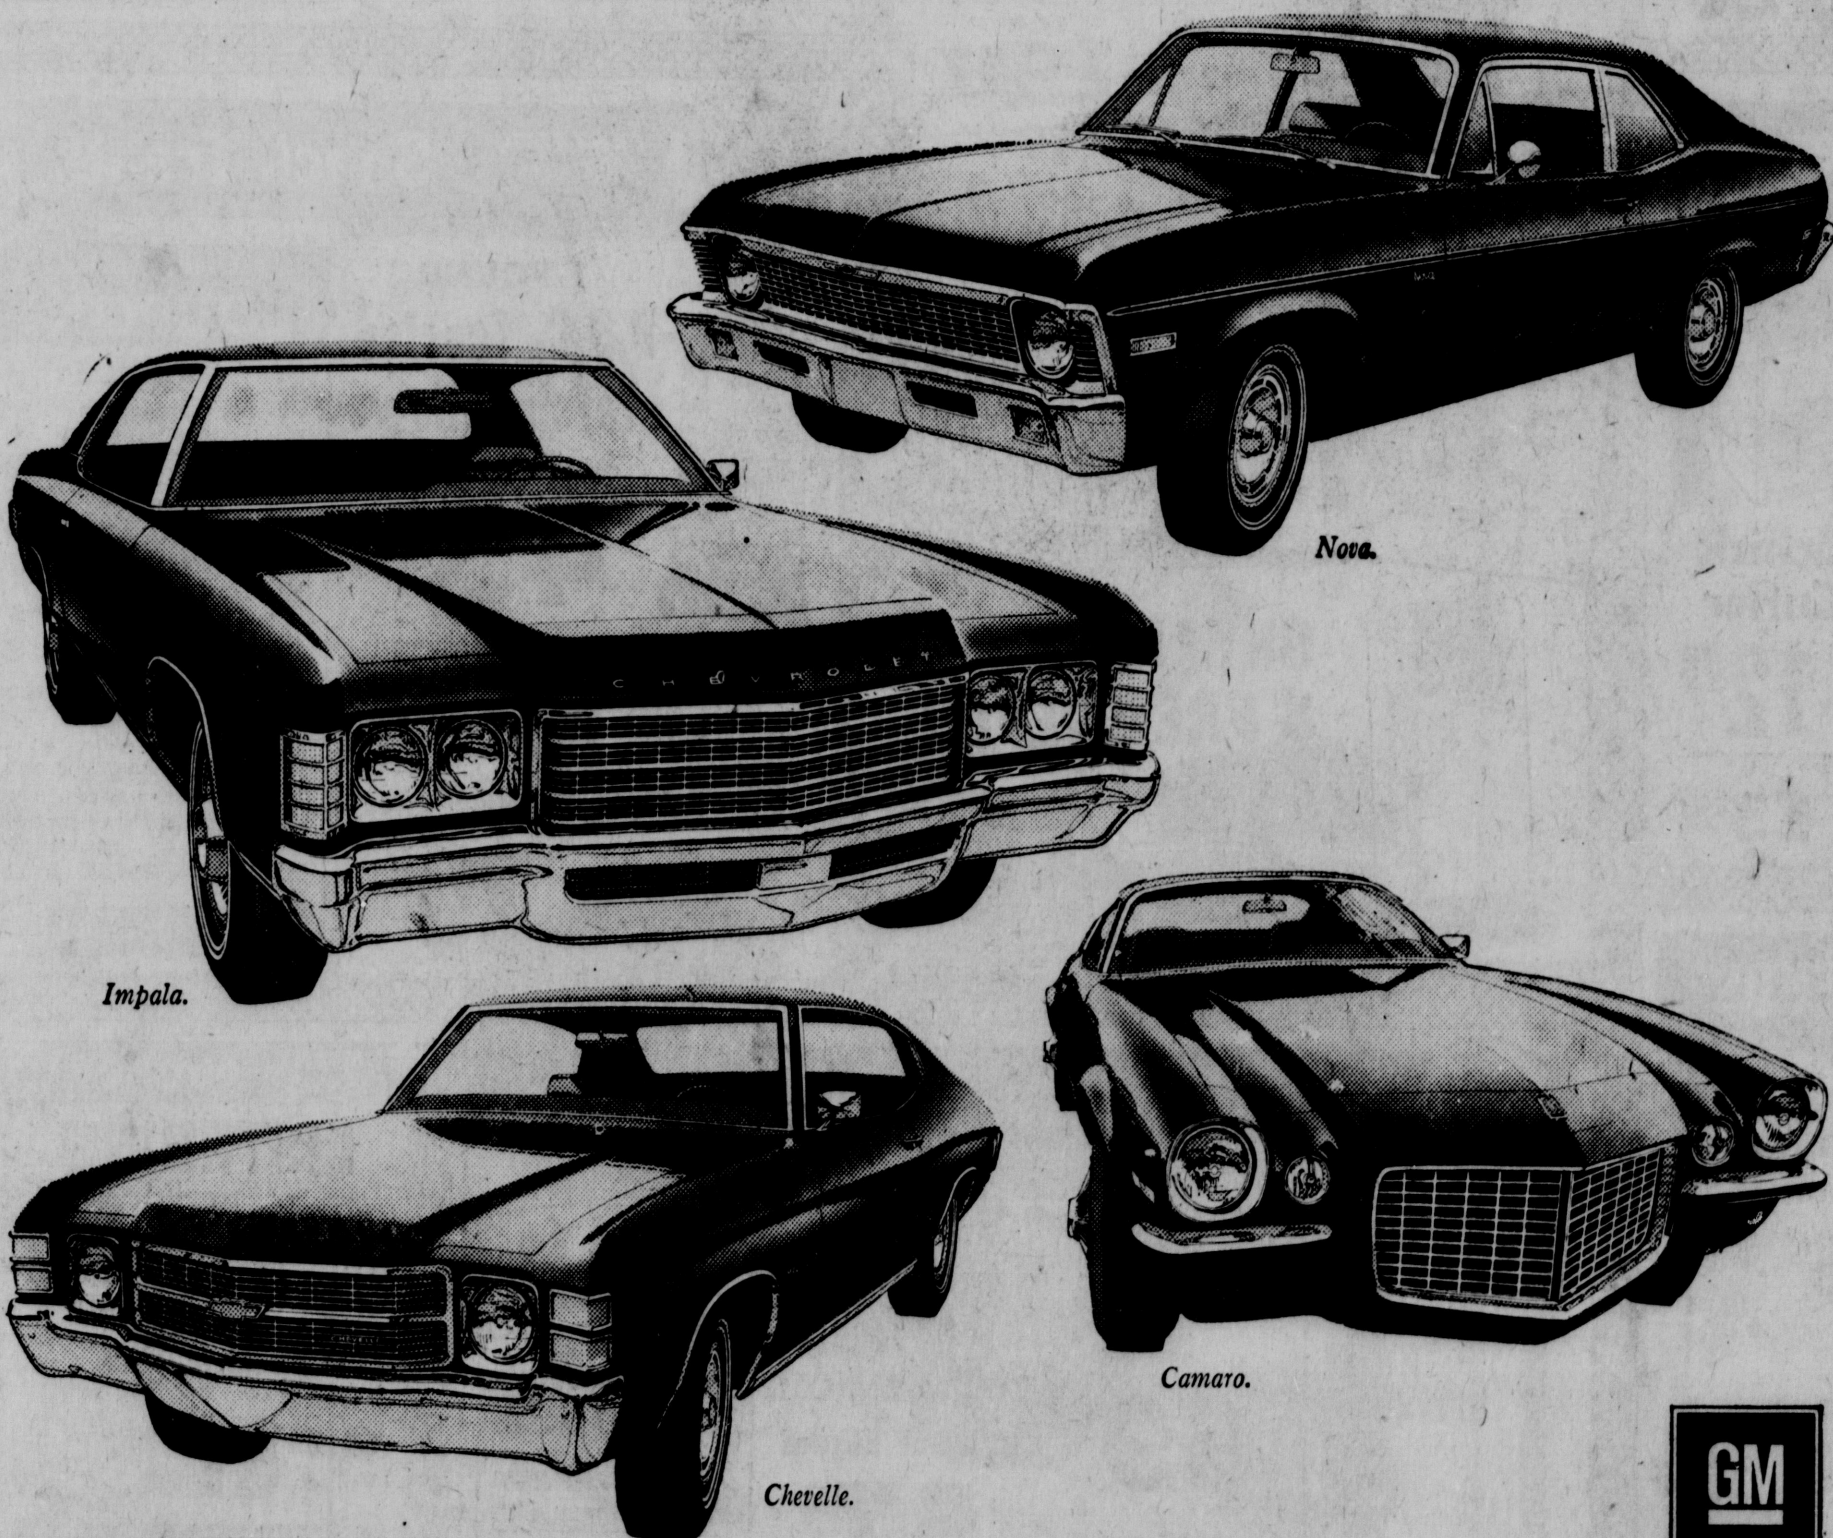

Sipperley said, "The importance of adequate weights and measures supervision can hardly be over-emphasized. If there were no such department, you might be short-weighted by hundreds of dollars a year in the meat, produce, and packaged goods you buy, the oil for your furnace, the gas for your car, and in countless other ways."

He added that "most merchants are honest," but just as there are dishonest shoppers, there are also a "few people in the business who would cheat you if they had the chance."

In one recent year the department checked out 30,000 packages. About three per cent were over-weighted in the customer's favor, but about the same amount were under-weighted.

You cut down on outer wear, inner wear and under wear with any of these Chevrolets.

Your money's tight these days. And before you go loosening it up on something new, you want to be very sure what you buy will be around for a while.

We understand. And we've done something about it.

Impala. Chevelle. Camaro. And Nova.

Each car, for example, gives you a lot more outerwear protection. In things like Magic-Mirror acrylic finish that's tougher and less porous than enamel. That holds a shine longer. Bumpers, door handles, and locks that are made to resist rust. And special protective inner fenders to help keep the outer fenders looking new.

Each car gives you more innerwear protection, too. That's because our Body by Fisher craftsmen equip the cars with upholstery and durable materials that really hold their good looks. Resilient cushioning that gives you thousands and thousands of comfortable sits. And long-lasting vinyl trim.

And each car gives you more underwear protection. The engines last longer because they run cleaner on no-lead or low-lead gas. The brake lines are corrosion-resistant. The exhaust system is aluminized.

And there are rocker panels or body sills designed to help keep rust spots from ever forming under the doors.

Impala. Chevelle. Camaro. And Nova.

If you like their good looks now, you'll love the way they hold onto their good looks. It's putting you first like this, that keeps us first.

Buckling your seat and shoulder belts is an idea you can live with.

Philharmonic Launching Spring Drive; Must Match Ford Grant

Members of the Ulster County Sustaining Fund Drive Committee of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic met recently to make plans for the spring drive to be held in this county. Chairman Henry Sykes of Woodstock and volunteers, including Alan Atherton, last year's chairman, will launch the tri-county effort soliciting both personal and business contributions for the Philharmonic.

Various activities have been in progress during the winter, and will continue as regular activities. These are the pyramid luncheons coordinated by Mrs. Richard Messina of Saugerties and the In-Home Concerts chaired by Mrs. Thomas Backus of Kingston.

The Sustaining Fund is the backbone of the Philharmonic's success. It finances every aspect of the educational program including in-school concerts, the young artists' competition and the co-operative music program as well as the orchestra's subscription series.

In 1966 the Ford Foundation gave the Philharmonic a grant of $250,000 with the challenge that Philharmonic supporters match the grant by the summer of 1971. So in the midst of the sustaining fund drive, a second group of volunteers headed by Mrs. Sydney Miller of Poughkeepsie, are trying to beat that deadline. To date the Philharmonic requires less than $5,000 to match this grant and build for itself an endowment fund of $500,000.

In addition to the Sustaining Fund, and the Ford Endowment Fund, interested individuals who wish to contribute to the Philharmonic may do so by donating to the Sustaining Chair Program. This is part of the sustaining fund and by donating $400 an individual pays for the cost of one musician for a subscription series in one city.

One may also give to the Germaine Benedictus Montoux Memorial Fund which was established in 1968 through a gift to the Philharmonic. The purposes of the Memorial Fund were outlined with special attention to the musical activities envisioned by Madame Germaine Montoux. The fund is designed to make youth concerts possible, to commission black composers, and to partially insure success of benefit concerts for organizations that merit such assistance.

Membership in the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society is not an exclusive privilege. Each person who buys a subscription to the season's concert series becomes a member of the society. Those who contribute over and above the price of the ticket are listed in the program and have preferential seating.

Security Surrounds Tricia's Trousseau

When there's a wedding in the White House, the rest of the country passes the pre-nuptial time wondering what the bride will wear. Speculation about Tricia Nixon's trousseau started as soon as her engagement became official.

So far, Miss Nixon's wedding wear remains under tight security wraps. At a recent and rare interview with the President's daughter, fashion reporters were left with just one possible lead. Miss Nixon revealed that she was wearing a fall, a long hairpiece worked into her own tresses, when she met the press. As a result, the educated guessers are betting there's room in Tricia's trousseau for a wardrobe of hairpieces.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I, too, fasten a paper bag on the leg of my sewing machine and put all my scraps (over six inches long or wide) in it.

I save some of the scraps for quilting and the remainder I donate to our church, Salvation Army or to the state school for retarded children.

These organizations find many uses for these pieces of material. I have seen some of the lovely things they have made: aprons, children's dresses, small suits, shopping bags, pot holders, etc.

Thanks a million for your good work and keep going!
Frances Wardbough

Dear Heloise:
I keep a supply of powdered or liquid pectin on hand to use with fruit syrups. I always drain off the syrup from the can of fruit I use when making salads or fruit gelatins.

Sometimes I add a touch of cranberry juice for color or add a half-cup of lemon juice if the fruit mixture is too sweet or bland.

The resulting jellies are pretty, delicious and definitely the cook's creation.
Marge Linebaugh

Dear Heloise:
I have found a good use for discarded nylon hose. Wind them around a wire clothes hanger, starting just below the hook. Sew together each stocking at the starting and stopping point.

I use three or four to a hanger. This makes them nice and fast. The covered hangers will not rust if there is dampness in the closet.
Mrs. Ada Short

Dear Heloise:
We live in a climate where we have plenty of rain, but it dries quickly after a shower. We never have to buy overshoes or rubbers for our children because we paint the soles of their shoes with several coats of lacquer to keep them waterproofed. This is also a hint for the golfers.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
(© 1971, Emily Post Institute, Inc.)

THE WEDDING season is approaching, and my mail is filled with questions about all phases of the wedding plans. Many of these questions concern the rehearsal dinner. Today's quiz may help those of you who will be hosts for one of these affairs. Circumstances vary, of course, and there are no hard and fast rules, but the answers to the following questions should serve as a guideline.

Is it a rule that the groom's family always gives the rehearsal dinner?

No. It is customary, when circumstances permit, but it is not obligatory. A member of the bride's family, a godparent or even a close family friend may give the party if it is impossible for the groom's parents to do so.

Is the rehearsal dinner always formal?

Not at all. It may be a barbecue, a buffet or any type of party the couple would enjoy most. If the wedding is formal, however, the dinner is generally along the same lines.

Is the guest list restricted to the bridal party and parents of the couple?

Yes, in most cases. If the groom's family can afford it and space is unlimited, other members of the family and out-of-town close friends who have arrived for the wedding are included. Grandparents and wives and husbands of the bride and groom should be included.

Does the groom's father give the first toast?

Yes. As host, that is his prerogative. He is followed by the best man, the ushers, the groom and anyone else who has a toast to offer.

Are invitations to a rehearsal dinner written?

Yes, in most cases. They may be handwritten or printed, depending on the formality. If it is a small, informal affair, the invitation may be issued by telephone.

Do the bride and groom sit at the head of the table?

No. The groom's parents (or whomever is host) sit at the head and foot of the table, and the bride and groom sit next to each other in the center.

Are bride's and groom's presents to their attendants presented at the dinner?

Yes. This is the ideal time to present the gifts. The bridesmaids and ushers often present their gifts to the couple, also.

If the groom's family lives out of town, do they still give the rehearsal dinner?

Generally, yes. They ask the cooperation of the bride's mother in reserving a hall or club and make the arrangements with the manager by telephone or letter.

Community Concert Series: Campaign Now Underway

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Sergiu Comissiona will be returning to Kingston next year by popular demand.

This is the latest bulletin from Community Concert Association headquarters in the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston.

The Association is currently conducting its subscription campaign for next year's series and those who wish to take advantage of the new series of concerts coming to Kingston MUST obtain a subscription ticket now. Tickets are never sold at the door.

Also coming to Kingston will be the Canadian Opera Company's presentation of "Orpheus in the Underworld" and duo-harpists Longstreth and Escosa. Contact Mrs. Harry Seitz at 85 Washington Avenue, Kingston for your subscription. Campaign headquarters will be open at the hotel from May 3 to 8 only.

Outstanding Director

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra's Music Director, Sergiu Comissiona, is recognized as one of the outstanding conductors of our day. Born in Romania, Mr. Comissiona has served as music director for the Haifa Symphony, the Ramat Gan Chamber, and the Goteborg Symphony Orchestras. He was appointed Music Director of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra in the spring of 1968 and began his first full season with the Orchestra at the beginning of the 1969-70 season.

In addition to his many concerts in Baltimore, Mr. Comissiona also fulfills a demanding schedule of guest engagements with major orchestras in both the United States and Europe, and he is constantly in demand for return appearances with these ensembles.

When not rehearsing or performing with the Baltimore Symphony, Mr. Comissiona is usually on his way to guest conduct another major orchestra in this country, or jet-hopping across the Atlantic, a dozen times during the past year, for similar engagements in Europe and England.

Reviewers everywhere are consistent in their praise: "... a dynamic, intoxicating performance." Daily Telegraph, London. "... Comissiona's conducting was that of a true virtuoso." Sun, Baltimore. "Sergiu Comissiona... a magnificent conductor." Aftonbladet, Sweden.

Under Mr. Comissiona's baton, the Baltimore Symphony's high standards have brought widespread acclaim. Increased public interest, and enthusiastic anticipation of another season under Mr. Comissiona's distinguished leadership.

Husband Gone — She's Forgotten

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow. My husband was well-liked in this community and had many friends.

What I want to know is, where are all those kind people who came to his funeral? There, they embraced me and said, "We'll call you. We'll have you over. Don't worry, we will look after you." I haven't heard a word from these people since then.

I have actually picked up my telephone to see if it was out of order. I feel so lonely and depressed. It's hard enough to lose a wonderful man, but when everyone else forgets you, it's unbearable. I am not an old frump. I am 37, in good health and am considered intelligent and attractive. I was left fairly well off. So what is wrong with me?

LONELY

DEAR LONELY: I don't know, but if I were you, I wouldn't sit home wondering if my phone was out of order.

I don't want to sound like a broken record, but the only sure cure for loneliness is to quit feeling sorry for yourself and to get involved in something worthwhile. A long list of worthy causes is screaming for volunteers.

Mental health, crippled children, cancer, heart, Red Cross, Goodwill, church auxiliaries, political groups, youth organizations, to name only a few. Now, aren't you ashamed that you didn't think of it yourself?

DEAR ABBY: When my girl and I started going together, I asked her to please get her teeth fixed as she needed it badly. I even offered to pay for it. She agreed to see a dentist but she never did. I know she hasn't been to a dentist in a good many years.

We are planning to be married in a few months so last night I reminded her of her promise and told her to start right away so she would look nice for our wedding. She turned very cold on me and said she didn't want to discuss it.

DEAR ABBY: A letter signed "PRO AND CON" was in your column. It was from a man who said he and his wife were having a mild disagreement over whether they should continue to bathe their adopted daughter, 11, with their own son, 9. He said the kids have separate bedrooms, but they undress in front of each other and have always bathed together and from the standpoint of sex, they seem to ignore the difference.

You said: "As long as the children are not self-conscious about their bodies, don't make an issue of it; if you suggest they 'hide,' they may be unduly curious, or get the idea that nudity is 'wrong,' or 'dirty.' As your daughter acquires maturity, she will acquire modesty without being told."

Well, I am an 11-year-old girl and know the facts of life. And if an 11-year-old girl isn't conscious of her body yet, someone should explain a few things to her.

I have a nine-year-old brother, and I sure would not care to bathe with him. Have you ever seen how DIRTY a nine-year-old boy can get?

End of Daily Double

CHARLES J. TIANO

Leon Greenberg, Monticello Raceway's president and general manager, is an attorney who can be both eloquent and persuasive and generally gets his point across.

In this highly commercial, you gotta have a gimmick world, Greenberg has made his mark with the twin double and perfecta, two betting innovations that created quite a stir in the harness racing world. The Twin Double has been outlawed in New York State but the Perfecta flourishes, even under different names.

But when the Mighty M president moves to eliminate the daily double on the grounds that it is a "ridiculous bet" we part company. This is the last vestige of pure "off-track" betting.

Who needs the daily double, Greenberg asks. Guys like me and a host of others who are not harness buffs, who once in while like to send a couple of bucks to the track, that's who. Numbers we've picked off the top of our heads. And what's wrong with that?

SINCE TRACKS ARE in-business to make money, a highly revered ideal in our capitalistic democracy, it follows that the tracks can do without who wants to plunk down a couple of bucks at the track or sends them along by messenger.

One argument against the DD is that horse players, those at the track, who win the first half of their double combination will not bet on the second race. The tracks would rather have the buff forget the DD and be seduced at length by the marvels of pari-mutuel betting, infinite variety of electives.

The Monticello president says elimination of the daily double won't happen overnight, but is sure to come within the next few years. He feels the regular patrons would prefer another exacta. Greenberg says he will submit the proposition of eliminating the DD to track patrons in a referendum.

Monticello introduces its new super-duper and highly sophisticated betting gimmick—the Superfecta—Thursday night as the 14th season of racing gets under way at the Sullivan County oval. The Perfecta remains. We have no quarrel with either, not even the $76 "box." But we hope fans turn thumbs down on the idea of killing the DD. Greenberg made a strong plea for "tradition" at the Mighty M press luncheon Monday. Is there any finer tradition in sports than the daily double in horse racing?

JOHNNY PETRAGLIA who has just completed the most fantastic 13-week tour in the history of professional bowling, leads in still another department of the Professional Bowlers Association tour.

The 24-year-old lefthander from Brooklyn, who averaged more than $5,000 in each event to show a near-record $66,153, spilled pins at a rate of 214.596 per game, far and away the best performance in that department.

Going at a 214-plus clip, Petraglia has to improve only slightly to break for the third consecutive year the high average standard. Two years ago Billy Hardwick of Louisville shot nearly 213, while Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis took honors for 1970 with almost 215 pins game.

With at least 20 more PBA tournaments before the end of the 1970-71 season, the Vietnam war veteran is a cinch to crack the one-season mark of $67,375 set three years ago by Jim Stefanich of Joliet, Ill.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM:

The pre-season evaluation of Mike Ferraro by the Rochester sportswriters was—league all-star three years in a row... hit .304 with 68 RBIs and 6 home runs... excellent on a double play, backhand behind bag... also considered best in league. The question: How many third basemen have the New York Yankees tried since Ralph Houck gave Mike that 13-game wheel at Yankee Stadium.

Who needs the kind of boxing farce that Ray Anderson staged against light heavyweight champion Bob Foster on TV last Saturday night? And has the phony verbal confrontation at weigh-ins become standard procedure for all future championship bouts.

Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl remained open through the Easter vacation week and when it closed on April 18 had clocked a record breaking total of 144 consecutive ski days, two more than the previous record set in the 1969-70 season. These are the kind of statistics that bring smiles to the face of Hunter Mountain General Manager Orville Slutsky.

Hugo Nindl of Austria, who represents Hunter Mountain led all members of the International Ski Racers Association winter tour in earnings. Nindl is now regarded as one of the finest performers on the ski tour.

KEITH JACKSON, one of the ablest play-by-play announcers on TV professional football has been given the honor by ABC-TV's Monday Night Game of the Week for the 1971 season. He has been replaced by the personable Frank Gifford, who is departing CBS for the usual reasons—more money.

Gifford joins the other two merry madcaps of ABC-TV, Howard "I Love Muhammad Ali" Cosell and Don Meredith, former Dallas Cowboy quarterback who is seeking refuge in the the broadcasting booth after a hectic career on the field.

The makeup of ABC's new broadcasting trio raises an interesting question: who's going to do the play-by-play? Interesting, because all three are what are known as "color men" in the trade. Cosell, who shilled for Muhammad Ali when all others scorned him, betrays monumental ignorance of the mechanics of pro football when he interjects himself into the broadcast. Meredith, the analyst, comes over strictly corn pone, Texas flavor. So it looks like a very exciting season for Frank Gifford.

Jackson never had a chance between Cosell and Meredith. He is so good on play-by-play that his voice sometimes came over almost as though it were programmed by a computer. But he knew what was happening on the field. There is considerable doubt that Cosell does—but he's the ABC sports boss, so...

Ferraro's Best Day: Five RBIs for Wings

ROCHESTER

Mike Ferraro, the Rochester Red Wing third baseman who went into Tuesday night's double header with a .250 batting average, exploded with five runs batted in for the victory-starved Wings.

The Kingston, N. Y., International League All Star third sacker for the past three years, knocked in four runs in the first game and added another in the nightcap.

Rochester won the opener against Tidewater, 6-0 and came back to take the nightcap, 4-1.

The Red Wings, who lost five of their first six games, played Tuesday for the first time in four days and swept a double-header from the Tidewater Tides, 6-0 and 4-1, to move out of the basement.

Rochester is just 3½ games back of the front-running Syracuse Chiefs, who dropped a 4-3 decision to Richmond that left the Braves only half a game out of first place.

Two Charleston pitchers limited the Winnipeg Whips to two hits in a 3-0 victory by the Charles in the only other action. The scheduled Louisville at Toledo encounter was postponed because of cold weather.

Not only did some of Rochester's hitters finally start hitting, but the Red Wings gout route-going performances from two pitchers—Bill Kirkpatrick with a two-hitter in the first game and Greg Arnold with a four-hitter in the nightcap.

Hull Snaps Scoring Drought

By THE UPI

It was all a matter of time. The New York Rangers had held Chicago's Bobby Hull scoreless for five full games but the second leading scorer in National Hockey League history ended his drought in fine fashion. Hull drilled home a goal at 6:35 of the first overtime period Tuesday night to give the Black Hawks a 3-2 victory over New York.

The goal also helped Chicago build a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Time also ran out for the Minnesota North Stars, who played on almost even terms with Montreal for 50 minutes before the Canadiens exploded for a flurry of goals in the last 10 to win 6-1. Montreal leads that series 3-2.

Hull, playing one of his best move on it. The goal came after he had Rangers tied it on a first period goal by Vic Hadfield and a second period score by Rod Seiling.

The series returns to New York Thursday night and a seventh game, if necessary, will be played Sunday in Chicago.

"They're far from being beaten," said Hull. "We're going to have to play the same type of game we did there last time when we won 7-1. If they were going to be demoralized, they would have shown it last night."

Montreal, which has had its hands full with the pesky North Stars, got a pair of goals from Pete Mahovich and brother Frank's 10th of the playoff series to down Minnesota.

"It was hard checking all the way and quite a game for the first 50 minutes," said Montreal Coach Al MacNeil. "I guess it was no contest in the final 10 minutes."

"We've won hockey games in all buildings this season, including Boston," said MacNeil. "Thursday night we're going to come out skating and they'll have to keep up with us."

The Canadiens-North Stars series resumes Thursday night in Minnesota. The winner of that series will face the New York-Chicago winner for the Stanley Cup.

"We missed our chances early in the game and then was taken to a hospital for overnight observation as a result of a sprained thigh muscle of Jackie Gordon, the Minnesota coach. "But we'll be out to get them Thursday night. We're not out of it yet."

Canadiens Lead, 3-2

MONTREAL (AP) — The fifth game of the Stanley Cup semifinals Tuesday night between the Montreal Canadiens and the Minnesota North Stars was tightly contested for 50 minutes.

The teams battled through a scoreless opening period and after 40 minutes, Montreal held a 1-0 lead on a goal by Peter Mahovich and the North Stars held an 18-11 edge in shots on goal.

But something happened to the North Stars in the final 10 minutes and when the siren wailed to end the game, the scoreboard showed Montreal 6, Minnesota 1.

Bucks Ready For NBA Tilt

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Admitting "nobody's going to hand anything to us," Milwaukee Bucks Coach Larry Costello felt confident about winning game No. 3 tonight in the National Basketball Association finals against the Baltimore Bullets.

"It could be the knockout blow. I'm not saying it will be, but it could be," Costello said Tuesday. "Heck, if we lost they could square it at 2-2 Friday and we'd be right back where we started." He said the Bucks were ready and they wanted to get it over with as soon as possible.

"But nobody's going to hand anything to us. We've got to go out and do it," he said. But while the Bucks are eyeing a playoff sweep, they'll be playing tonight as if the series is all tied up.

"That's right," Mc Glocklin said. "We can't afford to let up now, either as individuals or as a team."

The Bucks, with a 2-0 advantage going into tonight's game, beat Baltimore 98-88 here a week ago and took a 102-83 decision from the eastern conference champions Sunday at Baltimore.

Should Milwaukee go on to sweep the series, it would be only the second time in history such a feat had been accomplished. The Boston Celtics beat the then Minneapolis Lakers in four games of the 1959 final playoff series.

Baltimore, however, has been down before—the most recent time in the eastern finals against the New York Knicks. In that one, New York took a 2-0 lead in the series and then lost 4-3.

The situation is a bit different now, however. Baltimore managed to even the series against the Knicks 2-2 by winning twice on its home floor.

The final series, instead of going on a 2-2-1-1 basis, has an alternating schedule with neither team playing twice in a row on its own floor.

Tonight's game, which will be televised nationally, including Milwaukee, is a sellout—the 22nd in a row for the Bucks at the Milwaukee Arena.

Finals in ABA

Meanwhile and predictably, the American Basketball Association West Division playoffs have come down to "the game."

When the Indiana Pacers and Utah Stars square off in the seventh and deciding game tonight at the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum, it will mean more than another championship pennant flying in somebody's arena.

This game keeps the door open to a payoff of about $9,000 a man. A victory makes the season meaningful and nearly complete.

The game will be played before more than 11,000 fans and a statewide television audience. The winner will advance to the ABA championship series against the Kentucky Colonels, Eastern Division winners.

Indiana edged Utah by one game for the regular season ABA West crown after a season-long dogfight. During that regular season the two teams split 12 games, and each won four in its home court. Utah outscored the Pacers by a total of only five points.

Down 3-1, the Pacers rallied with muscle and a sticky defense to barge back into the picture.

Suddenly, it was no longer a close game—it was a rout. Grant said that both he and Bill Goldsworthy had great chances early in the game, "but you have to give credit to Ken Dryden, he kept that puck out."

Dryden, the former All-American at Cornell who was the key factor in the Canadiens' upset victory over Boston in the quarter-finals, faced a total of 27 Minnesota shots.

He stymied Jude Drouin, Bobby Rousseau and Goldsworthy in the first period after they each had worked their way free of Montreal defenders.

He also made good stops on shots by Lou Nanne, Drouin and Rousseau in the second period.

One of Dryden's saves on Drouin resulted in an ugly, red welt on the goalie's right shoulder.

WHAT NEXT, MR. FLOOD — Curt Flood, shown in pensive mood above, has done it again. The Washington Senators' $105,000 centerfielder quit baseball Tuesday. In a telegram from John F. Kennedy Airport, he told club owner Bob Short that he has "very serious personal problems." Flood was believed on plane bound for Europe. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Curt Flood Quits; Leaves Bob Short

WASHINGTON (AP) — Curt Flood has quit baseball again. The once-great player who was talked out of retirement while his $3.4-million suit against baseball was pending, left the Washington Senators unexpectedly Tuesday and was en route to Europe.

The 33-year-old outfielder sent a telegram to Senators owner Robert Short just prior to the Washington-Minneapolis game.

"I tried. A year and one-half is too much. Very serious personal problems mounting. Thanks for your confidence and understanding, Flood."

Short, manager Ted Williams and his teammates said Flood's departure was caused primarily by personal problems and not the poor spring he's had in a baseball uniform.

"I personally feel bad that he's gone," said Williams.

"There wasn't a guy on the club with a better attitude."

His roommate on the road, Elliott Maddox, said he was caught by surprise by Flood's action.

"I had no indication at all. I knew there were some things on his mind but he never told me what they were. As for benching, he told me that's okay as long as we're winning."

Denny McLain, another superstar taken on by Short at a $100,000 contract this year, described Flood as "real popular" with his teammates.

"I'm sorry we're going to lose him. That man must have had some serious problems," said McLain, a man who should know about problems.

Flood quit baseball in 1969 when he was traded from the St. Louis Cardinals, for whom he played 12 seasons, to the Philadelphia Phillies. He refused to report.

He sat out the 1970 season in Copenhagen, Denmark, while suing baseball over its reserve clause which binds a player to one club for life or until he's traded.

Rich Gerentine limited Onteora to one run in the top of the seventh inning as the Dukes of Marlboro moved into first place in the Ulster County Athletic League by half a game as they defeated the visiting Indians, 3-1, yesterday.

In other league action, New Paltz moved to within a game by defeated defending champion Rondout, 4-1, at the Ganders' field. Pine Bush nipped host Wallkill, 4-2. In non-league play, Highland defeated visiting Coleman, 7-5.

The Standings:

Marlboro	3	0
New Paltz	2	1
Pine Bush	2	2
Rondout	2	2
Wallkill	1	3
Onteora	0	4

Gerentine, who struck out eight while walking four, started things off in the first with a walk. Charlie Jones singled and Gerentine scored from third on an error.

Pierre Ferguson started the second stanza off for Marlboro with a single. Paul Kettner was safe on a fielder's choice, and both men moved up on a passed ball. Kettner and Ferguson scored as Mike LoFaro hit into another fielder's choice.

Onteora tallied in the seventh as Mike Gross touched Gerentine for a single. Kevin Crosby drew a walk and Gross scored as Dan Brown reached on an error. Gerentine then closed the gates for the win. Tom Sebald was the losing pitcher.

Rondout-New Paltz
The Ganders drew first blood in the opening stanza as Mike Alecca walked, stole second and came home on a single by Hyler VanWagenen, the losing pitcher. New Paltz scored one in the third as Joe Williams singled, stole second and scored as the shortstop made an error on Jay Ackert's grounder.

The winners added two more in the sixth as Harold Anderson boomed a 325-foot homer over the left field fence with Ackert aboard. Ackert had doubled and was awarded third on an in-

Four Double Winners at OCS

Pine Bush - RVC Score on Track

KINGSTON
George LaMonica, Pat Ariotta, George Shurter and Ken Papini all posted double wins as powerful Pine Bush High School defeated host Onteora, 88-53 in an Ulster County Athletic League track meet yesterday. In other UCAL action, Rondout traveled to Highland to gain an 85-55 win.

Bushmen Score

The Bushmen lead the standings with four points. Marlboro is second with three and Onteora has two. Rondout and New Paltz have scored one apiece while Highland and Wallkill remain shut out. The teams receive a point for each dual victory and will be trying for two for each victory in the UCAL meet for the championship later this season.

LaMonica won both hurdles events as he won the highs in 16.9 and the lows in 22.3. Bob Zoehfeld finished second in the highs for Onteora and set a school record with a time of 17.5. The old record was 17.6. Ariotta captured the 100-yard dash in 10.4 and the 220 in 23.2. Shurter was the picture of endurance as he posted victories in the mile (4:59) and the two-mile (10:42). Papini took the triple jump with a 40-foot, nine inch effort and then won the pole vault with an 11-foot performance.

Rondout-Highland

Griff Grahame edged teammate Al Elston for Rondout in both the 100-yard dash and the 220. Grahame's times were 11.1 and 25 seconds flat.

Pete Wilkane was a double winner for the Ganders in the shot put, hitting 40 feet and the high jump, clearing 5-2.

Paul Canino was Highland's only double winner as he cleared the high hurdles in 19.5 and took the lows in 23.1.

Brockport Nine Clips New Paltz Hawks, 14-7

BROCKPORT
Brockport State's baseball team tallied three runs in the first inning, six in the fourth and held off a ninth inning rally by visiting New Paltz to post a 14-7 victory. The Hawks are now 2-4 on the season and travel to Cortland for a game today.

Joe Baldassare went the full nine innings for Brockport and was tagged for seven runs on eight hits by the visitors. Baldassare and Company choked off a ninth-inning rally by New Paltz as the visitors tallied three runs.

Tom Williams took the loss. Trailing 14-4 in the top of the ninth, Coach Pete Kramer's lads managed to take advantage of men in scoring position to score the three markers.

Al Skidmore led things off with a pinch-hit single and he and Randy Kops were safe on a fielder's choice that went wild. Mike Scammacca then forced Kops at second with Skidmore moving to third. Charlie Silverberg then hit into another fielder's choice to score Skidmore. Joe Weber drew a base-on-balls and Vince Schettini singled sharply to center, driving in two runs. Joe Detosa struck out to end the inning.

Brockport tallied three in the bottom of the first inning as Tom Logan and Kevin McCarthy scored on two errors, while a single by Jim Mineo and a must, stand 5-foot-10 and weigh fielder's choice by Rich Lupe. The winners broke the game open in the fourth as they erupted for six markers. Baldassare walked to start things off. Mike DeMiles, Logan and McCarthy singled to score the pitcher. Ed Engstrom doubled in two after DeMiles had scored on McCarthy's single. Mineo singled in Engstrom and Lupe doubled to score Mineo.

Engstrom had four runs batted in, including a homer in the fifth. Mineo had three and McCarthy and Lupe drove in two. Logan was four-for-four and scored four runs for the winners.

Silverberg went three-for-five for the losers and Derosa blasted his second round-tripper

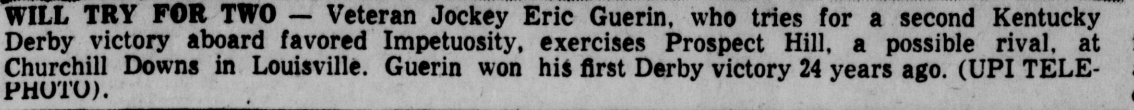

Woman Umpire Is Upheld In Battle With NY-Penn

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — The New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League struck out again Tuesday in its efforts to prevent a Jackson Heights woman from becoming an umpire. The State Supreme Court's Appellate Division ruled that the center, driving in two runs. Joe Detosa struck out to end the inning. The league had argued that Mrs. Bernice Gera was too short and too light to become an umpire. Umpires, the league said, must stand 5-foot-10 and weigh 170 pounds while Mrs. Gera is 5-2 and weighs 125. The court said the standards were unfair and upheld a state Human Rights Commission ruling that the league refused to hire Mrs. Gera because of her sex. Mrs. Gera is attempting to become the first woman umpire in pro baseball history. She has already presided over semi-pro games.

JUST SAY, "CHARGE IT!" AT WARDS

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees Riverside passenger car tires (to the original purchaser) against (1) defects in material and workmanship and (2) road hazards as follows:

If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.

Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.

For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicator during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance
40,000 miles.....	Prorated on Miles Driven
40 month.....	$10.00
39 month.....	8.00
36 month.....	6.00
33 month.....	5.00
30 month.....	4.00
24 month.....	3.00
18 month.....	2.00

Tread Wear Expectancy offer does not apply to tires used commercially.

Your Horoscope

Thursday, April 29

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day finds you able to get an influential man to aid you to obtain some job, public service or household equipment that you need. Afternoon and evening are adverse for allowing yourself the luxury of emotional disturbance which would cause you to say or do things that upset others.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) An aim which kin have can be realized easily in a.m., but later a troublemaker could cause an argument if you are not careful. Strive for the goodwill of everyone around you. Courtesy is the key.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Make appointments early in a.m. that will improve your life in some way, whether business or personal. Drive with care. Think before you speak and keep out of trouble.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Morning is good for handling the financial affairs and planning future expansion, greater personal happiness. Use great care in anything you do or say. Take no risk of any kind in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take those treatments that will improve your health, but don't annoy one at home who is busy doing important work or studying. Then go out socially and this will help you gain your aims. Take it easy tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You know exactly what you should do in a.m. and should immediately get into action, but avoid some trap later in the day. Confer with an advisor. Then study data very carefully. Read in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take your problem to a good friend who acts slowly but has wisdom and is thorough, then you solve it satisfactorily. Later financial matters are in conflict with the personal side of your life. Put money matters first. Avoid social activities today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning is the best time to handle any civic work you have to do. Later you can tally the benefits derived therefrom. Situations that arise should be taken care of quickly, or procrastination could make them more difficult.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Some clever idea you have to be put in operation quickly, and early, since later few doors are open to you. Garner the information you need, but do it diplomatically, quietly. Take it easy in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Showing those vital to your welfare that you discharge your duties well and on time is wise today — also, that you know how to handle new opportunities. Have patience with mate instead of arguing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Showing that you will cooperate with associates will bring excellent results, but avoid arguments later in the day. You can make new agreements early, but not so well after lunch. Plan for more social life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to discharge your obligations easily and well in a.m., but you must complete them and leave nothing half-done. Get the cooperation of co-workers. Don't show any feeling of animosity whatever.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Q—Has a perpetual motion machine ever been built? A—No one has ever succeeded in building a perpetual motion machine and almost all scientists and engineers believe no one ever will.

Q—What naval officer is credited with opening Japanese ports to world trade? A—Commodore Matthew Perry. He sailed the first U.S. Navy ship into Tokyo Bay on July 8, 1853.

Q—How large do pine cones grow? A—Cones of the sugar pine are longer than 20 inches.

Q—Who was the first golfer to win the Augusta Masters Golf Tournament four times? A—Arnold Palmer, who won in 1958, 1960, 1962 and 1964. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

You want to have a good time today, which is fine, provided you pick the right outlets. Show devotion to mate. Put some skill to work early in a.m.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will have to be raised with much care and tact, since there is so much sensitivity in this nature that harshness of any sort could endanger the nervous system. Give spiritual training early to stave off the sad feelings here and make your progeny a more optimistic person. Any profession from the pulpit to selling is all right, but permit to choose own career. College would be preferable.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Today's FUNNY

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

BAD THINGS: (Q.) I think that everything that is going on in this world today is terrible. I read in our newspaper in just one day about all these bad things:

A clerk is fired in a suit probe; a man is robbed of his right tickets; two policemen are killed and two hurt in a fight; 15 African miners die; fire wrecks a studio; love rumble kills three; youth is found guilty in killing of a college senior; police arrest 28 in a drug raid; suspect is held in robbery; ton of marijuana is seized in Britain; local man is jailed; veteran is accused of killing women; turnpike driver goes eight miles the wrong way; cigar man is found guilty of heroin imports; stranger is sought in death of party lovers.

Do you see what I mean? Please give me your opinion.—Tired of Reading About It in Pennsylvania.

(A.) You're concerned. That is good. Perhaps you can help to improve this world. It's going to take a lot of people to make a small dent in all the bad.

But everything is not bad. A lot is good. Look for the good. Welcome it. Be thankful for it. Help it grow.

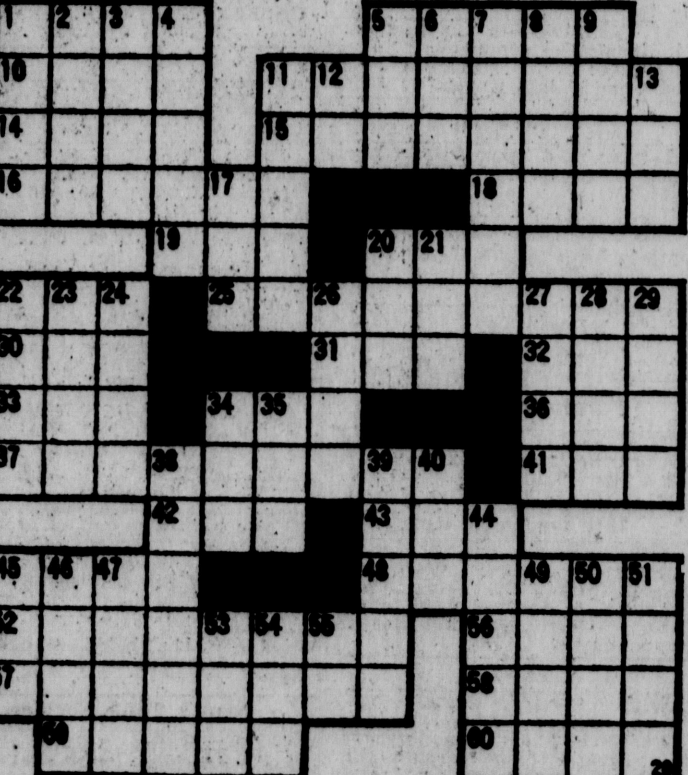

NICKNAME: (Q.) I'm sick of the nickname Mom calls me—Puss. To her it's like calling me Kitty or Kitten. But to me it's different. It sounded fine when I was a kid and didn't know anything, but not now.—Ashamed of It in Kentucky.

(A.) Your mother probably just hasn't thought about it. Tell her that girls sometimes outgrow their nicknames and that being called Puss is embarrassing to you. Show her this. I believe she'll understand and appreciate your honesty.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 3102, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

Rockefeller's Rent Control Bill Denounced by Lindsay

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A controlled in about 1,300,000 series of bills that would phase out the state's rent control laws with the idea of attracting more capital into the housing industry were submitted to the legislature Tuesday night by Governor Rockefeller.

The legislation would have its primary effect in New York City, where rents are currently controlled in about 1,300,000 housing units. The governor's plan, under which individual units would be decontrolled as current tenants voluntarily vacate them, was immediately denounced by Mayor John V. Lindsay as a "sledgehammer recommendation."

Lindsay said the governor's proposal "ignores the harsh realities of the critically tight housing market in the city..." He said the idea of a gradual phasing out rent control "was carefully studied by the city and was rejected as unsound on every count, not the least of which being that it would drive middle-income families from our city."

Rockefeller said the measures were aimed at solving "intolerable conditions" where older sections of cities "resemble bombed out communities in war time."

The major proposal is for second passage of the bill. This proposal would repeal the present constitutional ban on gifts and loans by New York State to private enterprise.

It would permit guarantees to private corporations or individuals building public housing or civic projects by the state.

The rent control reforms are expected to be the most controversial part of the plan. They effect not only the 1.3 million rent controlled units in New York City but some 130,000 others in nine counties and 157 communities.

Among those most seriously effected are Syracuse, Buffalo, Albany and portions of Westchester and Nassau County, all of which have rent control laws.

"Study after study indicates the present rent control system as a serious factor in diminishing housing supplies in the face of desperate needs," Rockefeller said. "The time has come to look beyond the politics of rent control."

The governor's proposals would:

— Extend the state rent control program which expires in June for another two years. Under the extension the profit allowed the landlord would be increased from the present 6 per cent to 7 per cent.

— All apartments voluntarily vacated by a tenant would be decontrolled.

— Apartments used not as the primary residence of the tenant would be decontrolled.

— New York City would no longer be allowed to extend rent controls to presently uncontrolled units.

— Increases in costs of taxes, utility and fees would be passed on directly to the tenants of rent controlled housing.

— Provide for a graduated transition to market rents where a community terminates control over some or all of its controlled apartments.

Governor Defends the Dismissals

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Governor Rockefeller, in reply to criticism that high-ranking executives are being protected at the expense of the "little guy" in state manpower cutbacks, said Tuesday the dismissals "have been even; across the board."

Rockefeller told a newsman that he thought that was true

"as far as percentages are concerned."

The governor also put a damper on the possibility of restoring funds to the trimmed budget in the supplemental budget possibility.

Rockefeller was asked for comment about the thousands of demonstrators who poured into Albany to protest the budget cuts.

"My only feeling would be that really where they should be demonstrating now is in Washington," Rockefeller replied. He reiterated his call for federal revenue sharing and noted that state aid to New York City had risen from $365 million at the beginning of his administration 12 years ago to $2.5 billion this year.

But, said Rockefeller, the protesters actually should be in Washington explaining to congressmen from New York State the inequitable treatment the state is getting. He said if New York's congressmen "would do for their constituents" as well as congressional leaders "do for theirs" it would help alleviate the financial problem in the state.

Independent Committee Cites Low District Costs

KINGSTON Kingston school system, and its Board of Education, the Independent Committee release said, "Of 48 school systems in the Mid-Hudson Valley, Kingston spends less than 46 of them, making them second lowest in administrative spending. This number includes many school district smaller than Kingston."

The release was issued on behalf of Mrs. Evelyn Corsones and Bevier Sleight, the two incumbents endorsed by the Committee for reelection to the Board of Education.

In offering praise for the Kingston school system, and its Board of Education, the Independent Committee release said, "Of 48 school systems in the Mid-Hudson Valley, Kingston spends less than 46 of them, making them second lowest in administrative spending. This number includes many school district smaller than Kingston."

The Committee pointed out that the figures were obtained from a recent survey conducted by the Mid-Hudson School Study Council.

Answering charges of "excessive spending" leveled against the School Board during this year's campaign, the Committee said, "Most expenditures in a school system are mandated by the State Education Department. Few additional expenditures are left for local judgment."

The Committee added, "One of the largest expenditures in the non-classroom area is in sports. A complete sports program, excellent in quality and scope enables many of the young people to participate in mind and body building athletics."

"The Independent Committee for School Board Elections gives credit to the administration and the Board of Education. The candidates they are supporting, Mrs. Corsones and Mr. Sleight, have spent five years on that board, learning how to run a school system." The release concluded by stating, "their valuable contributions and experience are one of the reasons the Committee urges their reelection."

Park Re-elected Head of South Korea

SEOUL (UPI) — Park Chung-hee was re-elected to a third four-year term as president of South Korea today, insuring a hard-line policy towards North Korea for his term of office.

Park, 53, a soldier turned politician, was leading by more than one million votes over Assemblyman Kim Dae-jung with about three-quarters of the 12 million ballots counted.

In a victory statement issued by a spokesman for his Democratic Republican party, Park said "the victory represents our desire for modernization for the fatherland. We will keep all the promises we made and strive to build a prosperous nation."

The chief issue of the campaign was whether South Korea should cling to a policy of no compromise with the Communist north. Park insisted that any effort to open peaceful contacts with North Korea was premature and that the nation was threatened by another invasion from the north.

Kim ran on a platform advocating that an effort be made to open peaceful contacts with the north, including mail service and an exchange of athletic teams. He also urged that peace in the Korean peninsula be guaranteed through a four-power pact by the United States, Japan, the Soviet Union and China.

Park came to power in 1961 as head of a military junta that staged a coup to end disorders by student demonstrations. He later won election to the presidency for four-year terms in 1963 and 1967.
